FOREIGN AID CUT

Loan Total Hiked

House Unit Trims Ike's Program 266 Million

Washington (AP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee voted Tuesday night to cut $266,800,000 from President Eisenhower's foreign aid program for the coming year. Eisenhower had asked for $3,930,000,000.

The committee produced a foreign aid bill cutting military aid and grants generally below the President's recommendation, but adding 100 million dollars to the fund out of which loans are made for economic development of backward countries.

The reductions included:

160 million dollars from the $1,600,000,000 Eisenhower proposed for military aid, leaving $1,440,000,000.

85 million dollars from the defense support fund, intended to bolster the economies of countries straining their resources to make a big defense effort. This item was cut from 835 million dollars to 750 million.

Cut In Half

100 million dollars from the President's contingency fund, to be spent at his discretion in emergencies. This represented a cut of one-half from 200 million dollars asked by Eisenhower.

On the other hand, the committee raised the development loan fund item from 700 million dollars to 800 million. It reduced the special assistance fund, from which grants are made for economic aid, by $21,800,000, or to $250,000,000.

The over-all total authorization approved by the committee— $3,642,600,000—thus was only slightly below last year's authorization of $3,656,400,000.

No Actual Funds

But the bill which the committee sent to the House for action merely authorizes expenditures without providing actual funds. The Appropriations Committee and the House may well pare below this level when the actual money legislation comes up. Both the authorization and the appropriation bills are also subject to Senate action.

Leaders plan to seek House action on the authorization bill about the second week of June.

In addition to the actual money cuts it made, the committee was understood to have agreed upon a number of policy statements to be included in its report.

In one of these, foreign aid administrators reportedly will be directed to apply the military aid cut especially against programs for countries other than those immediately in contact with possible enemies.

Nixon Welcomes Adenauer To U.S.

Washington (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of Germany arrived in Washington Tuesday night with his foreign minister to attend the funeral of former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

The 83-year-old statesman was warmly welcomed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, acting Secretary of State C. Douglas Dillon and a cluster of high ranking U.S. and German diplomats.

Nixon told Adenauer that President Eisenhower and his government "are most honored" by his visit.

"Many moving declarations were made all over the world when Mr. Dulles died," said Nixon. "None would have touched him more than this deed of yours, to be here to pay tribute to him. We express our deep appreciation for coming here."

Crash Hurts Four On Way To Reunion

Four women on their way to a family reunion in Crete were injured Tuesday afternoon in a car-truck accident near 67th and Cornhusker.

Most seriously injured was Miss Dorothy Darling of Crete, driver of the car involved. She reportedly suffered cuts and possible internal injuries and was reported in serious condition at a Lincoln hospital.

Miss Darling's exact age was not available, but she reportedly is in her 50s.

Reportedly less seriously injured were 3 of Miss Darling's aunts—Mrs. May Exton, 73, of Clinton, N.J.; Mrs. Hattie Harrod, 59, of Odessa, Tex.; and Mrs. Kyle H. Donahue, 71, of Sun Valley, Calif. All 3 reportedly suffered cuts and bruises and were reported in fair condition.

The Safety Patrol said the women were returning from Omaha where they had met Mrs. Exton's plane.

Driver of the truck involved was Harry Hallbeck of Omaha. He was heading toward Omaha when the mishap occurred, and although his truck rolled over on its side after the impact he was not hurt, the Patrol said.

Crash Kills Sutton Woman

Hastings, Neb. (UPI) — Mrs. Ora Weber, 70, Sutton, Neb., was killed and her husband was injured in a two-car collision east of here Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Weber died at a hospital here. Her husband, William A. Weber, 75, was listed in satisfactory condition with fractures of the chest and shoulder.

The state patrol said the Weber car collided with a car driven by Bert D. Frink, 39, of 3455 Woods Ave., Lincoln, at the junction of U.S. Highway 6 and Neb. 4 miles north of Clay Center, Neb.

The patrol said Weber had halted at a stop sign, then attempted to cross the federal highway.

The death raised Nebraska's 1959 traffic death count to 113, compared with 97 May 27, 1958.

Duke Douses Duo; Press: 'Not Funny'

London (AP)—A British newspaper advised Prince Philip that squirting water on people who can't squirt back is second rate humor.

The British press usually handles the royal family with kid gloves. But in a front page editorial headed "Not So Funny" the Evening Star really let the Queen's husband have it.

The squirting incident occurred at the annual Chelsea Flower Show. The victims were two photographers of the British Press Assn., Walter Lockyear and Mark Seymour. They carried passes from Buckingham Palace and, as the Star remarked, represented "the press of the world."

A sprinkling system had been demonstrated to Philip. He was still standing by the control panel when the two cameramen moved into position to take a picture of Queen Elizabeth II. What happened then, the Star said, was this:

"The Duke said to the two men operating the control panel of the sprinkler: "If I press this will I get those two photographers?' The men said 'Yes.'

"The Duke then pressed the button and Lockyear and Seymour were drenched with the water, which came up from concealed sprays in the ground.

"Their clothes were soaked, their cameras were also drenched, and it was 10 to 15 minutes before they could dry their apparatus to take pictures.

"The Duke asked Lockyear, 'Did you get wet?' Lockyear replied sarcastically, 'Oh, no, not much.'

"Both men were in fact, very wet, very embarrassed and very annoyed."

Violent Storms Hit State's Northeast

Severe weather in the form of tornadoes, hail and brief but heavy thunderstorms hit northeastern Nebraska late Tuesday with severe damage reported in the Hartington area.

A hail and rainstorm hit north of Hartington, leaving a 5-mile wide swath of destruction with hail depths of up to an inch and a half.

Lincoln was sideswiped by a thunderstorm that left but .01 of an inch.

The evening thunderstorm activity concentrated in the eastern part of the state was mostly thunder and lightning with only light rain noted at reporting stations.

The late afternoon storm in the Hartington area, 40 miles north of Columbus near the South Dakota border, caused heavy crop damage. The extent of the damage was not immediately known,

Funnel Seen

A tornado funnel was sighted late Tuesday 3 miles north of Columbus by the State Highway Patrol and a Lincoln Air Force base pilot in the area, but area residents said it did not touch the ground in that area.

A line of severe thunderstorms moved eastward from a line through Stromsburg, Columbus, Howells and Stanton, dumping locally heavy rain in some areas, accompanied by hail.

As the storm moved eastward, heavy rain fell at Wisner with some hail reported. No damage occurred during the storm which dumped an estimated half inch of precipitation on the area.

Ponca, Rogers Too

Reports of two funnel clouds, one in the Ponca area and the other near Rogers in the North Bend area, were made by residents but no damage resulted.

Wednesday's forecast was for partly cloudy to cloudy skies over the state and light rain in the northwest half. Cooler temperatures are expected to move into the state by Wednesday evening with Wednesday highs ranging from 65 to 75 in the southeast and 55 to 65 in the northwest.

Tuesday highs ranged from 80 at Grand Island and 79 at Norfolk to only 69 at Sidney. Lincoln's high was 76.

Bingo Bill Is Okayed

Committee Acts After Making Amendment

By Betty Person

Gov. Ralph Brooks' bingo bill was advanced to the floor by a unanimous vote of the Government Committee Tuesday after it was amended to provide that enforcement of the proposed law would be under the Secretary of State's office rather than the Agriculture Department.

The only other change adopted in LB719 by the committee would limit the organization licensed to conduct bingo to Nebraska non-profit corporations.

The move to place the enforcement of the proposed law under an elected official rather than the appointive officer requested by Brooks was adopted by a 4-0 vote.

The original bingo bill, LB86, which was vetoed by the governor, had provided for local enforcement, and was listed by Brooks as the chief reason for his refusing to sign the measure.

In addition to state enforcement, LB719 provides:

—a mandatory tax of 10% on gross proceeds.

—minimum age limit of 21 years.

—limit of payoff in any one session to $750, one half the amount permitted in gross receipts.

The bill carries the emergency clause and would become effective immediately if passed by the Legislature and signed by the governor.

50 Attend Mayor's Meet On Minorities

An estimated 50 persons attended an unofficial public meeting of the Mayor's Council on Human Relations Tuesday evening, designed to explain a city wide "fact-finding" survey of minority group housing in Lincoln.

The majority of visitors were made up of minority groups and asked questions on the usefulness of the survey and how far it would go toward alleviating the problem of this type of housing.

Chairman Charles Stuart presided over the meeting and read the questions from the survey to the group so that they would be familiar with the survey.

He asked their cooperation in assisting with the survey so that the Council's position can be explained to the minority groups.

Mayor Bartlett E. Boyles said "I have high hopes we can approach this survey with fair enthusiasm."

Plane Carrying Raul Castro Lost

...Craft Feared Down In Swamp

Havana (AP) — Fidel Castro's firebrand younger brother Raul was missing Tuesday night on a flight in a light plane over south central Cuba.

Raul Castro, who succeeded his brother as commander in chief of the revolutionary armed forces, had taken off at 12:30 p.m. with a pilot and 3 aides in search of a helicopter in which Maj. Luis Diaz Lanz, commander of the revolutionary Air Force, had crashed.

The presidential palace announced at 10:45 p.m. (EST) that Raul's plane was missing. The plane had had fuel for only one hour of flight.

Diaz and two aides with him had been found meanwhile by Prime Minister Fidel Castro flying in another helicopter. Diaz and his companions were not hurt.

Fidel Castro then joined in the air-ground search for his brother, but late Tuesday night bad weather forced a suspension of the hunt.

Swampy Area

Raul's destination had been Cienaga de Zapata, in a swampy area 120 miles southeast of Havana. Havana radio stations appealed to farmers in the area to look for the missing men.

The palace announcement said it was quite possible Raul's plane had made a forced landing in the swamp area. The sector is one of marsh land with no hills.

Raul Castro, now 28, has been his brother's close associate throughout Fidel's revolutionary career.

B. Combs Leads In Kentucky

...Primary Race

Louisville, Ky. (AP)—Bert T. Combs, a mountain lawyer, appeared headed toward victory Tuesday night over Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield in his second try for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination of Kentucky.

Backed by Gov. A. B. Chandler's administration, Waterfield trailed badly in early returns from 6 of the 8 congressional districts and held only a slight edge in the first, his home ground.

A Waterfield defeat would be a major setback to Chandler's announced intention to seek the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960. He had counted on Waterfield to deliver Kentucky's 30 votes at the Democratic convention.

A Combs victory could put Kentucky's votes behind U.S. Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas if he seeks the nomination. Johnson is a close friend of former Sen. Earle C. Clements, who is backing Combs.

Wilson W. Wyatt, running with Combs, held a lopsided margin over 6 competitors in the race for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

Combs, if nominated, will face former Rep. John Robsion Jr., Louisville Republican, for the governorship in the general election this fall.

Goodell Elected

-$164,450 Theft-

Denver Bandits Sought

Armored Truck Looted; Woman Sees Escape

Denver (AP)—While a woman nearby watched in astonishment, a man looted an armored truck of $164,450 in currency Tuesday and escaped with a male partner in a green-and-white automobile.

It was the second largest cash haul in the history of the Denver area. In 1922 armed men ambushed a federal reserve truck in front of the Denver mint and got away with $200,000.

Tuesday's theft was in the drive-in area of the Jefferson County Bank at W. Colfax Ave. and Wadsworth Ave., just west of Denver.

The thief opened the locked truck door with a key and cooly tossed 4 canvas sacks holding the money to his confederate. Then they drove out past tellers sitting at drive-in windows and vanished.

Car Found

The getaway car was found soon afterward in a shopping center lot a half mile away, but there was no sign of the two men. Police were checking the car owner.

Bank officials and the armored car's two guards were unaware of the theft until Mrs. Maudie Moore of suburban Thornton, Colo., gave the alarm after watching the swift drama.

FBI agents and officers reported this sequence of events:

The bullet-proof truck owned by the Armored Motor Service of Denver pulled into the parking lot of the bank. The two guards, R. K. Peterson, 49, and John H. Jeffery, 54, went into the bank and came back with the 4 sacks of currency. They tossed them into the truck, slammed the door shut which automatically locked it, and went back inside to collect bags of coins.

Noticed Car

Mrs. Moore, sitting in a parked car, said she noticed the green-and-white car standing about 50 feet from the truck, with two men in it.

They drove close to the money car. One man jumped out, opened the right front door with a key and grabbed the currency sacks. In a moment the car and men were out of sight.

It was done with split second timing with the thieves seemingly aware that the guards, after placing the sacks of currency in the truck, would return to the bank for a few minutes.

Veto Forecast On Officials' Salary Hikes

Gov. Ralph Brooks is expected to veto a bill increasing the salaries of Supreme Court justices, District Court judges and the governor.

The measure, LB2, was passed by the Legislature Tuesday.

Brooks said nothing has changed his previously announced policy of looking with disfavor on all salary increases until the pay of state legislators is raised by a vote of the people.

The governor has thus far vetoed 3 salary bills. His veto has been sustained twice.

Brooks said Tuesday he might have changed his policy on increases for judges, but "such persuasion was completely obviated by Atty. Gen. Beck's statement that my vetoes were prompted for political purposes."

Since that time, the governor said, his policy has remained "unchanged."

St. Elizabeth, Bryan Aid Priority Urged

9 State Hospitals Listed By Advisory Council

By Don Walton

Nine hospital facilities, including St. Elizabeth and Bryan Memorial in Lincoln, were recommended Tuesday as priority recipients of federal hospital construction funds in fiscal 1960.

Recommendation was made by the Nebraska Hospital Advisory Council after two days of hearings. Final approval must come from the State Board of Health.

St. Elizabeth was chosen as fourth priority recipient of $122,000 in federal aid for a $304,166 addition to its school of nursing.

Bryan will receive $600,000 which has been placed in reserve to assure construction of the hospital's addition. The funds had been earmarked for Bryan since federal aid was allocated to the hospital last year.

County, General Out

No federal allocations were made to Lancaster County for its proposed chronic disease facility or to Lincoln General Hospital for a $1.2 million addition.

Both had applied for federal funds totaling nearly $1 million.

Also denied aid was Providence Hospital which asked $450,000 for a new addition.

Other Hill-Burton allotments were made to facilities in Omaha, Minden, Grant, Chadron and Albion.

Seventeen applicants had asked federal aid which would have totaled $7,461,300, or about 5 times more than Nebraska is likely to receive.

Hope For Boost

The state would be allocated $1,530,000 under legislation approved by the House of Representatives. State officials hope the Senate will boost that figure.

Top general hospital priority was granted to Chadron Municipal Hospital for a $250,000 addition and modernization of its facilities. Federal aid would provide $100,000.

Other general hospital aid recommendations, in order of priority:

—Boone County Hospital, Albion; $162,550 addition to hospital to provide both general and chronic beds; $35,000 in federal funds.

—Nebraska Methodist Hospital, Omaha; $625,000 addition to school of nursing; $250,000 in federal funds.

—St. Elizabeth Hospital, Lincoln.

—Children's Memorial Hospital, Omaha; $1,649,309 addition and modernization; $120,000 in federal funds.

Top nursing home priority went to Bethany Old Peoples Home at Minden with a recommended federal allocation of $50,000 for a $125,000 addition.

Chronic Disease

Perkins County Hospital at Grant received top priority in the chronic disease category. Some $68,000 in federal funds was recommended for a $170,000 chronic disease addition.

The Boone County Hospital at Albion was allocated an additional $30,000 from chronic disease federal funds.

Children's Memorial Hospital was alloted an additional $150,000 as top priority applicant in the diagnostic and treatment category.

Goodwill Industries of Omaha received $146,000 for its top rating in rehabilitation. The money will go to construct an $805,552 vocational rehabilitation facility.

No Priorities

No priorities were set among the remaining 9 applicants in the event that Nebraska's federal allocation is boosted.

Actually, Tuesday's recommendations "more than take up any foreseeable allotment," State Hospital Division Chief Verne Pangborn said.

Anything additional would likely be allocated to Children's Memorial.

Ten per cent of Nebraska's federal general hospital appropriations have been allocated to schools of nursing since the Hill-Burton program began in 1948, State Health Director Dr. E. A. Rogers noted.

Five of the 11 schools have been assisted to the tune of $1,440,900.

Nursing school allocations made this year will provide "the most nurses per dollar expended," Dr. Rogers said.

Ak-Sar-Ben Cites Local Kennel Club

Omaha (AP)—Eight Nebraska groups and organizations judged outstanding in public service in their home communities the past year will receive the 16th annual Ak-Sar-Ben Good Neighbor Awards.

Singled out as being particularly worthy was the Fairbury Rotary Club, whose Herman Rabe committee adopted the blind man last year and devoted its time to assist him in the sale and distribution of his handmade push brooms.

The Cornhusker Kennel Club of Lincoln, was praised for promoting a free vaccination program for dogs with the club paying for the vaccine and veterinarians donating services. If the dog owner did not have transportation, it was arranged for.

Others cited:

The agricultural committee of the Gibbon Chamber of Commerce, which planted 95 acres of corn for an ailing farmer, cultivated and fertilized it, then picked it for the widow after the farmer died.

The Cedar Creek Club of the Elgin and Oakdale communities for coming to the rescue of a farm family whose barn was struck by lightning and burned, caring for the quarterless animals and helping rebuild a new barn.

The board of directors of the Merrick County Centennial Corporation and the Centennial Belles of Central City, who staged an outstanding celebration and contributed the profits to the county's 4-H building.

The Beatrice Development Corporation building committee, which planned, designed and supervised without compensation the building of a new plant which created 170 new jobs in the community.

The Jolly Neighbors Home Extension Club of Rock County, which in addition to giving fruit, magazines and fellowship to the Long Pine Old People's Home and donating to the heart, cancer and polio funds, also donated food to a family whose home was destroyed by fire.

The Helping Hand Society of Elgin, which has contributed $2,000 to the Christian Home in Council Bluffs, Iowa, along with sewing and canning during its 37 years of existence.

Shrine Head Visits Sesostris Officials

Crippled Children Aid Cited By Shrine Chief

Imperial Potentate George E. Stringfellow said the Shrine's work with crippled children in its 17 hospitals has reached beyond hospital walls.

During an official visit Tuesday to Lincoln, Stringfellow said the fraternal order has "contributed to making North America conscious that crippled children can be helped."

"Every state in the union is doing more today than ever before," the Shrine leader said. "Many efforts were inspired by the Shrine's work."

Praises Dr. Andrews

And, Stringfellow praised Dr. Clayton Andrews of Lincoln, who as deputy imperial potentate is expected to succeed Stringfellow at the Shrine's imperial convention in July at Atlantic City.

Dr. Andrews' medical training and experience, Stringfellow said, "will bring a fresh viewpoint to the management of the Shrine's 17 hospitals for crippled children."

A research committee, headed by Dr. Andrews, is functioning to determine the "best treatment methods" based on recorded experience over 33 years. Plans are to make the information available to orthopedic surgeons throughout the world.

Long-Range Plan

Stringfellow said the Shrine has a long-range program underway of hospital rehabilitation and modernization. Currently, a 60-bed hospital costing $800,000 is under construction at Mexico City to replace a smaller, older structure.

The Shrine hospitals with 1,200 beds have helped 110,000 children without regard to race, color or creed. The only requirements are that the child be under 15, that there is possibility that medical science can help, and the child's parents are unable to pay, Stringfellow said.

Stringfellow considers his major accomplishment during his term of office has been "a long-term policy of continuity in management and programs" of the Shrine.

807,000 Men

He noted that the order has grown by some 200,000 members in the past 10 years to the present total of 807,000.

Scheduled for consideration at this year's convention is the possibility of broadening the organization's charter to include other countries than those of North America, he said.

Stringfellow, vice president of the Thomas A. Edison Industries, was an associate of the late Thomas A. Edison.

The East Orange, N. J., industrialist has been recognized for both professional and civic achievements.

During his Lincoln visit, Stringfellow conferred with Potentate Don S. Bergquist and officers of the Sesostris Temple.

He and Mrs. Stringfellow were honored guests at a dinner Tuesday evening at the University Club.

Missiles Choice Can Wait, Ike Says

Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower was quoted as telling Republican congressional leaders Tuesday there is no need for an immediate choice between the Nike-Hercules and Bomarc missiles.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois informed a news conference Eisenhower made this observation in discussing a controversy which has developed over continental defense weapons.

Dirksen said Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, chairman of the conference of all Republican senators, told Eisenhower at Tuesday's weekly meeting with congressional GOP leaders:

"Mr. President, we are going to resolve the matter for you in the Senate this week."

Authority Lacking

Saltonstall, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, made the statement in connection with a military construction bill the group has approved. The measure lacks the authority for 50 additional Nike sites sought by the Army.

The Army has expressed fear its Nike-Hercules program may be superceded by the Air Force's Bomarc missile project.

At the White House Dirksen told newsmen earlier that Eisenhower was aware of the criticism.

House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said that the determination "ought not to be made by a lot of yakking people who maybe don't know what they are talking about." He coupled that to a comment that Eisenhower is a munitions expert.

United Press International

The Army's Nike-Hercules anti-aircraft missile, already involved in a hot inter-service dispute, was reported Tuesday to have been only 8% effective against a mock air attack on Chicago last fall.

Pools Plan To Open On 6th Of June

Lincoln's 3 municipal swimming pools are tentatively, weather permitting, scheduled to open June 6, the City Recreation Office said Tuesday.

And, with City Council approval, the price of season tickets has been increased, but single admission prices are unchanged.

Adult tickets for 50 swims were raised from $5 to $7.50 while season tickets for children under 12 were raised from $3 to $5.

However, the season tickets were made transferable from one person to another and are good for swims at all 3 city-operated pools.

Regular admissions remain unchanged at 15 cents for children and 25 cents for adults.

The new price and ticket policy was recommended by the City Park and Recreation Advisory Board.

Wertz Won't Appeal Auto Death Verdict

William T. Wertz, convicted May 15 of motor vehicle homicide, has decided not to appeal his conviction to the State Supreme Court.

Lancaster District Judge Paul White was informed of the 19-year-old youth's decision Tuesday. The judge then ordered a pre-sentence investigation made by the Adult Probation Office and set sentencing for June 9.

Wertz, of 4125 High, and John E. Olney, 18, of 1301 Piedmont, both were charged with motor vehicle homicide following the death last Oct. 6 of Constance L. Lane, 17, of 2252 Smith. She was a passenger in Olney's car when it rolled over on a dirt road south of Lincoln.

Olney was convicted March 25 and was sentenced to a one to two year Men's Reformatory term and fined $500. He has, however, appealed the conviction to the State Supreme Court.

The state charged Olney and Wertz were "drag racing" just prior to the fatal accident.

Dulles' Body Lies In Repose In National Cathedral

Many Pay Last Honor

Washington (AP)—John Foster Dulles' body lay at rest in stately Washington National Cathedral Tuesday night, and great and ordinary people from many lands filed past to pay him honor.

Wednesday the former secretary of state will be buried with military pomp in Arlington National Cemetery after funeral services at the cathedral.

President Eisenhower will attend. So will the chief of government of West Germany, 83-year-old Konrad Adenauer.

And foreign ministers of nations East and West were flying the Atlantic and Pacific for the parting tribute to the man who for 6 years was one of their number.

In an unmatched show of unity, all 4 foreign ministers attending the Geneva conference — including Andrei A. Gromyko of Russia—were on their way to Washington for the funeral.

Gromyko paused for a 5-hour stay in London on his way to Washington. He travelled from Geneva by himself, but accepted an invitation to make the return trip with U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and the British and French foreign ministers, Selwyn Lloyd and Maurice Couve de Murville.

For a day, Dulles' body had lain in the family home, not far from the cathedral. Tuesday, at noon, it was borne to the massive Gothic structure on Washington's highest hilltop.

Except for his wife, members of the family accompanied the hearse to the cathedral.

There was little show of emotion or sentiment among the people filing past the Dulles bier.

By mid-afternoon perhaps 1,500 persons had passed through the chapel. Still the line stretched out into adjoining corridors.

Hospital Short-Staffed Says LAFB Surgeon

An increased work load with fewer physicians is the immediate outlook for Lincoln Air Force Base and other Second Air Force Hospitals according to 818th Air Division officials.

According to Col. William F. Patient, 2nd Air Force Staff Surgeon, during June many of the physicians on active duty will complete their two years service and replacements have not arrived because of processing procedures.

The hospital at LAFB has already seen the departure of Col. Charles E. Englehart, 818th Medical Group Commander, to French Morocco recently, leaving the hospital staff with 5 physicians. One more is expected to leave in July with no replacements scheduled to arrive until September.

The Elements Of Tragedy

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The two cases in St. Louis County where children were attacked and killed by packs of dogs should give Lincoln something to think about. This is outside the mere idea of a little boy's pet pitted against the lawn and garden enthusiasts. It is sometimes and in some ways amusing to watch the squabble over keeping dogs confined.

But there is no amusement to it when little three and four-year-old children are ruthlessly killed. The point for Lincoln to look at is what it might do to keep more dogs off the streets and from running loose. Already, the Humane Society has purchased a new patrol truck, making a fleet of two. It has promised strict enforcement of Lincoln's so-called dog tieup law. But we wonder if this is enough. It costs only $5 to get a dog back after it has been placed in the society shelter. This isn't a great deal of consideration in these days of inflated values.

One Step More

It is possible that the City Council might well want to consider a much stiffer penalty. A $50 or $100 fine, for instance, might keep a lot of gates closed that would otherwise be turning a dog out to run loose. And this might well avert such a tragedy as has been experienced in St. Louis.

Naturally, there are some other aspects to the situation. It is hard to say how many loved and wanted pets would be lost by their owners with a $50 or $100 pound fee. Such cases as that are not pleasant things, either, but perhaps it is time we took a look at the lesser of two evils.

This week's City Council was not without another of its annual problems. A proposal was made by Attorney William Walker for better control of the sale of fireworks. Here is another project which generally gets more laughs and jokes than serious consideration. Maybe we are just in too somber a mood today but it also might be possible that Mr. Walker has a good point.

He discussed the possible establishment of a substantial tax or fee for the selling of fireworks. This may have some merit but it could well miss an important area of consideration. The big danger would seem to be the selling of such Fourth of July materials in connection with other business activities — drug stores, grocery stores and many others.

★

Some of the places in which these fireworks have been sold in the past offer a high potential for tragedy and disaster. They are sold in areas where there is a high concentration of people doing other business, as well as purchasing fireworks.

The fireworks displays are highly concentrated. A fire started in such an area with such a crowd within a building with limited access seems to be a very dangerous situation. The average small independent stand or tent from which fireworks are sold carries far less danger.

Of course, it is too late this year to do much about the situation. If time remained to pass a law on places from which fireworks could and could not be sold, it would work a hardship on those establishments which have already made plans and purchased their stock for this year's business. But the City Council should recognize now that the only way this excuse of lack of time is going to be whipped is by acting a year in advance. If a law on the subject were deemed advisable, it would be well to put it on the books just ahead of July 4 to be applied a year later.

Looking A Year Ahead

This would be a fair approach for the merchants involved and the general public will not be greatly affected one way or another. If disaster hit Lincoln under present conditions, it would trigger such legislation immediately. It only makes good sense to avoid such a disaster in advance if at all possible.

Keep Memorial Day Happy

The National Safety Council has predicted that as many as 260 lives will be lost in traffic accidents over the Memorial Day week end. It is also prepared for 10,000 disabling injuries.

That is a grim note on a week end devoted to affectionate memories and family ingatherings. It has more the ring of a week end of violence and angry moods.

How do Memorial week ends usually fare nationally?

The record for the usual two-day holiday stands at 241, set in 1953. A greater toll, 371, was set last year, but the holiday extended three days.

Nebraska has not fared well on the highways this year despite urgent efforts of Gov. R. G. Brooks, the law, and a growing number of safety-minded citizens. It has seen more death than during the corresponding period last year. The coming week end offers an excellent opportunity to reverse this lamentable trend.

The National Safety Council offers simple suggestions for a safe and sane holiday.

Take care to observe the speed limits and obey the caution signs.

Be more thoughtful of a safe arrival than on how quickly you can get there.

Be sober and alert at the wheel.

Those three precautions will prevent most accidents. But we might add as extra precautions:

Be sure your car is in proper operating condition with dependable brakes and lights. Never pass another car if there is any doubt of safety. Keep a sufficient interval in respect to the car ahead. Count on the other fellow doing the unexpected. Don't let your passengers distract you.

What's Wrong With Beck?

We know one thing for sure—the heading on this article will draw a lot of readers. The most universal question heard these days is what happened to Attorney General C. S. Beck to make him such an outspoken political partisan. Is he building himself up to seek another elective office? Is he a part of some clever Republican party scheme to attack the Democratic governor or knock out the non-partisan Legislature?

Or perhaps he is being prematurely affected by age. On the other hand, his food may not be agreeing with him or an unwanted relative might have moved into his life. Of course, it could be any number of things from nagging backache to frozen tomato plants, if he is a gardener. But we will now dash all expectations to the ground by admitting we have no idea whatsoever what it is that has gotten into Beck to so change the man.

Beck has always been more or less of a quiet fellow. He has been a substantial influence in the Legislature but always behind the scenes. His personality has generally been defiant but he has seldom, if ever, made this as obvious as he has the past month or so. He has viciously attacked the federal judicial system, the governor of Nebraska and the entire Legislature.

Nothing, apparently, is beyond his knowledge and most definitely not beyond his interest. Exactly what influence he has had on anything is as hard to determine as are his motives but the general consensus seems to be that he has had little, if any, effect upon anything. The reason for this is that he has generally been too radical in his criticism.

He has, in fact, generally been so far off base that his activities or remarks fall much more within the realm of curiosity than they do serious consideration. Consequently, the question centering around him is not concerned with the merits of what he is saying, but rather, with what it is that is making him tick these days. Democrats can look at an even brighter side as they watch him sawing off the limb behind himself. But as disgusted as he apparently is with everything and everybody else, chances are he is fed up with his own office, anyway.

Vanishing Toward The West

The Oregon Centennial wagon train is leaving Nebraska.

For approximately a month it has inched its way diagonally across the state at the rate of 20 miles a day — some time off for hospitality. It will take much of the spring and all of the summer for the train to complete the route from Independence, Missouri, where the old trail began, to Independence, Oregon, which was one of the termini of the trail.

The old trail entered Nebraska in the southwest corner of Gage county, followed the Little Blue, jumped to the Big Sandy, pushed on to Fort Kearny, then west along the Platte to North Platte; finally up the North Platte past Chimney Rock and then to Scotts Bluff.

In the days of '49 the gap in the imposing barrier of Scotts Bluff marked the point of no return. Ahead lay Laramie peak and the Rocky Mountains, visible from the Bluff.

Marks of the old trail are still visible to the knowledgeable searcher, but nowhere better preserved than just beyond the gap of Scotts Bluff where the imperishable tracks still thread their way between the canyons before they drop into the level valley of the Platte toward old Fort Mitchell.

It is to remind us that Nebraska has had a varied past and several lives.

Few realize that Nebraska slept under Spanish and French flags until the Louisiana Purchase made it a part of the United States. But for that fortuitous bargain the struggle of 13 British colonies for independence might have been the history of another country.

Nebraska also lived a long life of Indian and buffalo until the oxen and wagons of the pioneers beat out one of the early interstate highways. And it was quite a highway. During the busy summers of the middle 19th century the traffic filled four lanes — one way.

Honor To Janike

When the U.S. Department of Agriculture designated E. W. Janike of the University of Nebraska for the highest honor it can bestow, fellow Nebraskans agreed that it couldn't have been given to a more deserving person.

Janike received the honor at Washington Tuesday.

Currently associate director of the Agriculture Extension Service he has served Nebraska agriculture since 1930. He has been identified with the 4H movement, the livestock industry and the farm program as a one time district director for the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. In short he has given 29 fruitful years to the conservation of national resources.

Probably no one man has so warmly and deeply touched the thinking of Nebraska farm youth, nor had a more constructive influence for the betterment of farming through the efficient statewide administration of farm extension agents.

Ambassador Hill May Be Moved Up

WASHINGTON — Concern over our deteriorating position in Latin America has become so great that President Eisenhower is considering the appointment of our No. 1 political ambassador in Latin America, Robert C. Hill, as assistant secretary of state.

Hill is now U.S. ambassador to Mexico, where he has done an excellent job, won the cooperation of both Mexican officials, the American business community, and such Democratic leaders as Lyndon Johnson of Texas. Recently Hill handled the courtesy call of President Eisenhower on President Lopez Mateos with success.

Hill's retirement from Mexico would leave a vacuum in that key country. However, with probably as much Communism in Latin-American countries as there was in China 10 years ago, it is believed important to initiate decisive, magnative policies in the western hemisphere. Hill is considered about the best qualified man to do this.

The liquor industry is planning another move to undercut the Supreme Court—this time in regard to tax exemptions.

It was Louis Nichols, executive vice president of the Schenley whiskey empire which masterminded the censure of the Supreme Court by the American Bar Association. On top of this, the convention of Wine and Spirits Wholesalers of America meeting in New York last week heard strategy for liberalizing tax deductions for the liquor industry's political campaigns which the Supreme Court recently ruled against.

Ever since prohibition ended, the liquor companies have been fighting various political campaigns, one of them against local option. They are against having local communities decide whether they should be wet or dry, and their advertising campaigns to influence the vote have run into a lot of money. Political advertising under the rules of Internal Revenue is not deductible, and the U.S. Supreme Court last winter handed down a ruling against the liquor industry on this point.

☆ ☆ ☆

But at last week's convention, Bert G. Goss of the Hill and Knowlton advertising firm mapped plans for making political advertising tax-deductible. Hill and Knowlton, incidentally, is the firm hired by the cigarette industry which retained doctors to refute the now official findings of the American Cancer Society and the Public Health Service that cigarettes do cause lung cancer.

Big Work Still Awaits Summit

WASHINGTON — It is now clear that the most which can come out of the present foreign ministers' conference is an agreement on the matters about which they disagree. If any real decisions are to emerge, they must come from a laborious summit meeting attended by the men with the power of action.

This is not at all what President Eisenhower wanted. He had hoped for a perfunctory meeting at the top which would stamp approval on agreements made on the way up. Instead, Geneva has been a purely propaganda exercise whose principal beneficiary appears to have been the East Germans.

Since Geneva has left the main problems unsolved, the President must now find a way of avoiding the summit altogether or deciding where and when to hold it. With the Russians able to turn the heat on West Berlin at any moment, the former is hardly practicable.

There is, however, a lesson to be learned from the Geneva meeting, with its milling masses of diplomats, reporters, spies, tourists and propagandists. It is that a summit meeting ought to be held in a spot conducive to privacy, patience and contemplation.

☆ ☆ ☆

This was clearly in the mind of British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd when he suggested, as a summit site, Gleneagles, an elegant old hostelry in Scotland. Bait for the President in the Lloyd proposal was the famed Gleneagles golfing greens, the King's course and the Queen's course. Within a few hours' drive is also the daddy of them all, the famous St. Andrews course.

There is very little nourishment for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in the Lloyd suggestion, as he has been to England and has no known interest in golf. Khrushchev had eagerly accepted the idea that San Francisco, birthplace of the United Nations, would be perfect for the summit. But his hopes of a triumphal trek across the United States were dashed by General Charles de Gaulle, who icily said that since the summit was to deal with Europe's problems, it should be held in Europe.

De Gaulle's real objection, it is said here, was to the proposed Khrushchev exercise in public relations, Moscow style.

☆ ☆ ☆

Should the Russians prove adamant about a meeting in the United States, Lloyd has pointed the way to a solution. The United States has a number of isolated but luxurious resort hotels large enough to contain the whole official panoply of an international conference. Among them are the Greenbrier, the Homestead and Sun Valley.

While this would mean certain difficulties for members of the press, it would be little different from their present plight at Geneva where they are within a stone's throw of the deliberations but daily are obliged to get the news at third hand in briefing sessions which are dreary, unproductive and unrevealing. As an exercise in newsgathering, the briefings are a joke and a waste of talented people.

Dulles Emphasized His Work

WASHINGTON — Whatever else history may say of the late John Foster Dulles, he will go down in the books as a character; an unmistakable personality with an extraordinary drive of ambition, coupled with a capacity for the exercise of authority.

Observing him through the postwar years, this reporter would say that if one single trait helped to explain his remarkable career it was his power of concentration. No matter where he was or under what circumstances the problem in hand got his complete and undivided attention.

So complete was his concentration that he seemed never to put down the concerns of foreign policy. This is partly the explanation for his tirelessness — why in New Delhi or Bonn or Geneva or Tokyo he could go through a 14-hour day scarcely pausing between meetings. It also helps to explain his equanimity. He had so disciplined himself that every moment was given to the task in hand, with no time left for nonsense or the vagaries of temperament.

Recently in Bonn those who had seen him in January on his last mission recalled for this reporter what his discipline meant. He was in considerable pain from the resurgence of the cancer that took his life. But when he talked with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer or others in the West German government he gave no sign of his distress. He was the old familiar Dulles engaged in one of the most difficult undertakings of his career, which was to try to bring Adenauer around to a more moderate view of the status of West Berlin.

It was only when he had returned to the American embassy, where he was staying, that he let down and that those close to him understood how much it cost him to carry on. Reporters who saw him at his first press conference after his return from that last mission sensed that something was very much wrong. But in answer to searching questions, he performed with all the skill of the virtuoso.

At press conferences and in the background dinner sessions we frequently had with him, particularly in the early years of his secretaryship, he was, above all, the superb lawyer out to make his case to the jury. With a shrewd sense of news values, his objective was to tell enough but no more than enough. The effects he achieved were almost all deliberate even when, as in his boast about brinksmanship, they seemed most indiscreet.

Meeting 12 or 14 Washington correspondents for a dinner session, he would come directly from his office. His rule was two old-fashions before dinner. He had a curious habit of stirring his drink with his forefinger. Each time he came to such a session it was with a sure knowledge of what he wanted reporters to learn and print.

Pressed hard in the give-and-take of questioning, his nervous tic—a twitching of the left eye—became evident. This same involuntary crack in his disciplined exterior was sometimes visible when he was under hostile interrogation by the Senate or House Foreign Relations groups. Dulles was particularly sensitive to the questioning of Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, long the ranking member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and more recently its chairman. The two men scarcely concealed their mutual antipathy.

Perhaps because of the very intensity of his concentration on his own aims and ambitions, Dulles was lacking in empathy. It was difficult for him to project himself into the thoughts and feelings of others. This may well have been his greatest weakness in diplomatic negotiation.

He found it hard to realize that others could honestly differ with him, and this was particularly true in the conviction underlying everything he did—that the drive of world Communism had to be blunted if not destroyed. In his dealings with the statesmen of the world, his greatest failure was with Prime Minister Nehru of India. Nehru's determination to hold a neutral course in an effort to avoid war and build up his country was simply incomprehensible to Dulles.

☆ ☆ ☆

His greatest success was with Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany. The close personal relationship between the two men was the cornerstone of Dulles' policy of a revived and democratically motivated Germany. One of the reasons the Geneva conference of foreign ministers is stuck on dead center is that Dulles is not on hand to speak with the frankness of an old friend to Adenauer.

While he was highly sensitive to currents of opinion and concerned over criticism of his policies in an age of conformity, Dulles was not a conformist. He was never the hail fellow well met, the enthusiastic glad-hander. There was nothing in his personality of the slick Madison Avenue approach.

It was as an austere and dedicated apostle of righteousness that he moved unwearyingly across the world doing what he believed to be the task to which he had been called not only by background and training but by a higher call.

How Much Evidence?

Bennet, Neb.

I want to help Mr. Robinson on the Starkweather case. Let's see what we can do. Mr. Robinson could have all the sob-sisters go out with a petition and get enough money to buy a gold medal for Starkweather. On June 4, instead of having him electrocuted, let's turn him loose and have a national holiday of some kind in his honor proclaiming him the bravest man in the world, self-confessed slayer of eleven insignificant people.

We are sick of hearing and reading how Charlie can laugh and what Caril is wearing.

How much evidence do they need?

Mercy And Justice

Lincoln, Neb.

Regarding the Starkweathers, if someone had killed their son, what would have been their reaction? Would they be so relenting as to forgive and forget? The facts and actions of this killer speak for themselves. They would not. They would clamor for justice just as assiduously as they seek mercy now.

Let's have justice!

Jury's Decision

Friend, Neb.

Why is Starkweather still alive? What good is a jury if someone else lets him live after he's found guilty? He has been shown every kindness in the book. What gets me is the fact that if a man with no job and a family to support should write a no-good check, he would have the book thrown at him and a five to 10-year term to serve. But Starkweather kills 11 people, has a trial, then another one, gets the death sentence, and at the last second, he's still free, so to speak.

I bet I'm not the only one who feels this way, either. What's the matter with the people who feel he should have a retrial? Aren't the victims of his wild spree enough to put him in the electric chair, with no questions asked?

City Government

Lincoln, Neb.

It is refreshing to hear our new mayor, Mr. Boyles, say that the town hall meetings idea is basically sound and that neighborhood delegations would be encouraged to make their wishes known.

May he never forget that this is a government of the people, deriving its just powers from the consent of the governed. That is the main reason why the electorate picked Boyles out of the crowd and elected him with a resounding majority.

Lincoln does not want a dictator nor a bureacracy. A bureaucrat, whether appointed or elected to a government job, seeks to enlarge his power and his income by enlarging his bureau. Adding bureaus to government becomes like an octopus spreading tentacles into every phase of private life, restricting our liberty, and bankrupting our government.

As the city electorate fired and hired a new mayor, they will expect our new mayor to fire every government employe who does not render the public a service commensurable with his salary, and hire only those qualified and whose basic attitude is sound.

Cost Of Mall

Lincoln, Neb.

It is good to see youngsters working so energetically for what they feel is good for the community. From the taxpayers' viewpoint, it would be of the greatest interest to know how much we would have to pay for the mall as a finished product, not add this and that over the years until it comes to a sizable sum to preserve the interest of the dwindling downtown district.

Decentralization is inevitable, with parking a scarcity and the high cost of rent. Instead of creating more parking, they wish to cut off more. There is little doubt that a mall is a thing of the future, but with the wheel-taxers' cry that the streets are in deplorable condition, let us stop dreaming and try to save the taxpayers more burden.

Remember, there is a voice petition on file with the Council for a badly needed swimming pool in Havelock for which we have no funds.

New Faith

Lincoln, Neb.

I wish to share my worship experiences at Fourth Presbyterian Church on Memorial Sabbath. The prayer told me of my duty as a citizen, and the triumphant patriotic anthem of the choir led by Shirley Jeambey, and the 21-voice children's choir conducted by Judy Jarret, gave me hope and courage. The sermon by Dr. William Kirby I think regenerated me from a pessimist to new faith.

Dr. Kirby gave pessimistic quotes of the sages along the way from about 3,000 years before the birth of Christ at intervals to now. He unfolded history with the great of all these times, finding faith and giving worthy contributions to the world. These contributions sometimes came through trying and trying again, ultimately to a high victory.

Education Board Will Hear Accreditation Report June 2

The State Board of Education meets June 2 and has a full agenda lined up including hearing a report on recommendations of the State School Accreditation Committee.

Dr. Floyd Miller said the changes in status being recommended by the Accreditation Committee are relatively few with the most being recommended in the minor category.

There are 3 categories of accreditation in Nebraska. They are the Minor Accredited, the Class A or fully accredited and the Class AA.

6 In AA

There are 6 schools in the AA class. These are Beatrice, Gering, Grand Island, Hastings, Lincoln and Omaha Westside.

The Class A category has 246 schools and the minor accredited schools number 76. In addition there are 198 approved public schools which are not accredited. All accredited schools also are approved.

The department also has accredited 37 non-public schools in the Class A accreditation and one with minor accreditation.

Four hearings on teacher certification revocations had been scheduled but Commissioner of Education Freeman Decker said two persons have voluntarily surrendered their certificates for cancellation.

Face Hearings

Hearings will be held for the other two holders of teacher certificates.

The board also will meet at 1:30 p.m. for a discussion with officers of the Nebraska School Improvement Assn.

The NSIA officers were not able to attend last month when the board discussed educational problems with other educational groups.

A proposed plan for using federal aid on a matching basis to improve statistical reports of schools will be submitted to the board.

Dr. Decker said the plan involves $5,000 in federal aid.

Levy Transfer Bill Amended

The Legislature Tuesday amended LB283 on general file to allot the first $350,000 in institutional building fund levy money apportioned to the State Department of Education to the State School for the Blind in Nebraska City.

LB283 transfers the portion of the institutional building fund levy used for the schools of the blind and the deaf from the Board of Control to the State Education Department. Transfer of the control of the institutions has been approved by the Legislature.

Sen. George Syas of Omaha said the money would be used to build a school and a gymnasium at the school for the blind.

The bill was brought back to general file for the amendment. It was then advanced on a voice vote.

$50,000 Limit On Farm Price Support Wins Senate Unit OK

Washington (AP)—A $50,000 limit on total price supports for any one farm or farmer won approval by a Senate appropriations subcommittee.

A similar provision has been passed by the House.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate group, sharing the annual farm fund bill carrying nearly 4 billion dollars, told newsmen the ceiling on farm price supports had been approved over his opposition.

Russell said the subcommittee action, atop that of the House, means a ceiling undoubtedly will be written into permanent law.

"We tightened up the provision previously voted by the House," Russell said. "I'm against writing substantive legislation in appropriations bill but a majority of the committee favored it."

The House put the $50,000 limit into the big farm money bill by a 261-165 floor vote.

Later, the Senate voted 57-20 for a $35,000 limit on price supports as an amendment to a stopgap wheat bill now pending in the house.

In the past, some price support loans have ranged above a million dollars for large producers of cotton, wheat, corn, rice and other crops eligible for government supports.

Russell declined to discuss other actions by the farm bill sub-committee until after the full 27-member Appropriations Committee acts on them, probably Thursday.

Some Dispute

Russell said there was some dispute over the interpretation of the $50,000 ceiling voted by the House. Some Senate lawyers thought it would not prevent a farmer from getting several loans of $50,000. Others said it would apply to each of the commodities eligible for support.

Rep. William H. Avery (R-Kan), who sponsored it in the House, told senators his intention was to apply the limit to each commodity.

Russell said the Senate group wrote in language to make it clear that the ceiling applies to the total of all support loans on 1960 crops to one farmer. It would not apply to farm cooperatives, except to individual members, he said. In addition, the Secretary of Agriculture would be directed to issue regulations "prescribing such rules as he determines necessary to prevent evasion of such limitation."

Brock Foresees $1 Billion Drop In Net Farm Income

Washington — Lower government payments and higher production expenses are expected to reduce the net income of farmers this year by about $1 billion, Rep. Larry Brock said Tuesday.

The Wakefield Democrat based his figure on statistics released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Last year's net farm income of $13.1 billion was just about twice the amount of money expended by USDA, Brock noted.

Nebraska has been deprived of $460 million in farm income each year for the past 7 years "due to the farm program and policies of the present national administration," according to testimony presented to the House Agriculture Committee, Brock said.

"To examine these figures closer," he pointed out, "the state of Nebraska normally spends about 70% of its income for retail purchases.

"Merchants in the state have, therefore, lost about 70%of the above figure annually."

The House Agriculture Committee wheat bill which provides price supports of 90% of parity and reduced production acreage of 25% "appears to be a good workable bill and the best we can get at this time," the Democrat said.

The bill provides the wheat farmer one-third of the normal yield as compensation. Land taken out of production may be grazed but not used for planting any crops under price support.

Mrs. Walton To Exhibit Food Abroad

Mrs. Peggy Walton of Lincoln will demonstrate the use of Great Plains wheat food products at the Swiss Food Fair at Lausanne, Switzerland, June 13-28, the Nebraska Wheat Commission announced Tuesday.

Mrs. Walton, known professionally as Amber Fields, will help stimulate an expanded world market for American food products—primarily the "convenience" foods such as cake and roll mixes, instant rice, frozen poultry and fruit and fruit products.

She will be representing the Great Plains Wheat Market Development Assn. of Garden City, Kan. in co-operation with the U.S. Department of Agriculture Foreign Service.

She will leave Lincoln May 31 and will visit the Great Plains Wheat Assn. office in Rotterdam, the Netherlands, en route.

Holdrege Man Warden Hopeful

C. Guy Anderson of Holdrege has applied with the Board of Control for the vacated post of State Penitentiary warden.

Anderson has been administrator of the Methodist Memorial Homes, Inc., for the past 7 months.

A former State Safety Patrol trooper, he lists 20 years experience in law enforcement.

Another Lincolnite has also requested application blanks.

Other applicants are Lincolnites C. V. Keller and Lloyd Voigt, and Holt County Sheriff Leo Tomjack of O'Neill.

Meanwhile, the Board has sent application blanks to 5 persons recommended by the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

Life Says HST, Rayburn Decided On Possible Demo Nominee

New York (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman and House speaker Sam Rayburn are reported to have decided between them that one of two men should be the Democratic presidential nominee. The two are Senate majority leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) or Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo).

Life Magazine in its current issue says Truman and Rayburn rejected Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass), Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) and Adlai Stevenson.

In Washington, Rayburn called the story far fetched, adding:

"I don't recall what Mr. Truman and I talked about but we certainly did not try to settle on these candidates for the presidency in 1960. We simply visited together as two old friends."

Rayburn said he had no recollection of having discussed presidential candidacies with Truman.

The Life article, written by John L. Steele, chief of the Time-Life Washington Bureau, adds:

"One thing the two Democratic warhorses could not agree on was a preference between the two senators. Truman favors his fellow Missourian, Symington, while Rayburn favors his fellow Texan, Johnson. But both senators now have the stamp of Truman-Rayburn approval."

Truman said in a statement:

"It is a mystery to me how anyone can claim to know what is in my mind about 1960 when, in fact, I have not come to any decision.

"Moreover I intend to keep an open mind for some time to come and until I feel certain in my own mind about who will be best among so many good and able men in the Democratic party."

The Life article says:

"The decision was reached on May 5 after a dinner party in the Washington home of Sen. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma. Neither Johnson nor Symington was present.

"At 11 p.m. the 77-year-old Rayburn turned to the 75-year-old Truman and said, 'Harry, let me give you a ride downtown.' In the back seat of Rayburn's car, the two old friends drove off together to the Mayflower Hotel where Truman was staying.

"Riffling the list of candidates like a deck of cards, they discarded one after another:

"Sen. John Kennedy was rejected both because of his youthful appearance and because Truman and Rayburn felt that Kennedy's Catholic faith would hurt him more than it would help him (Kennedy was not, however, rejected as a possible running mate).

"Sen. Hubert Humphrey was found not to have the bearing of a presidential candidate. They also remembered Humphrey's poor showing in his race for the vice presidential nomination 3 years ago, and they doubted whether he would be acceptable to the South in 1960.

"Adlai Stevenson was discarded largely because he had twice been overwhelmingly defeated by Dwight D. Eisenhower. Truman and Rayburn also had other reasons: Both want a new face, both want a candidate who is eager to run. Rayburn considers Stevenson somewhat indecisive."

Status In Doubt

New Delhi (AP)—The Indian government is wondering what to do with a small number of Red China soldiers in India's Assam refugee camp for Tibetans. An official said the government would grant them asylum on request, but it is still unknown whether they deserted or just lost their way in from the Tibet border.

Grand Forks, N.D. (AP) — Spring fever, a spring rain, and a handy coulee sent University of North Dakota students on a mudflinging spree. Several hundred students were involved.

DELAPLANE'S POSTCARD

The suburban housewife is deeper than you think. Ask me how I know. Thank you.

The way I know is because the depth research people have been chaffering with the housewife. Mainly about their car problems.

"Six housewives of ten thought today's cars were too big," reports Dr. Freiberg, a man from Deepsville if there ever was one.

Many deep thinkers would have been satisfied with this. But the Dr. is no wader. He went right out to his neck. What about the other four?

"A number of those questioned volunteered that the streets are too small!"

Man, that is DEEP!

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, this is all very interesting to your suburban correspondent. A study of the suburban housewife is always worthy — though right in this community a lady caught her husband studying suburban housewives. She got him twice with the old .38 before he could holler "Ven."

Anyway, the Dr. studied these suburban wrens. And he came to the conclusion they were driving themselves daffy.

"She is the most overworked, underpaid chauffeur in the world. Each day she faces driving problems far more onerous than those which confront the average male driver."

The Dr. went on to list the problems: The school car pool; taxi servicing the children; shopping and grocery delivery service; Red Cross meetings; church activities; delivering husband to bus and picking up same.

☆ ☆ ☆

This was so fascinating that we decided to do our own study. We did not inform the subject housewife and imagine she will be surprised when she reads this.

We opened the study while subject and husband were having breakfast.

She: "Where did you put the car keys?"

He: "What do you mean, where did I put them? You were driving last night."

She: "Well if you hadn't insisted on that last martini, you could have driven."

☆ ☆ ☆

Only recently I decided to help the suburban housewife's car problems.

It is pretty obvious that one problem is backing out of the driveway. The car goes out of our driveway with EVERYBODY helping and giving advice.

"Watch out for the tree-Watch out, don't run over the child!"

In the meantime, the driver is gritting her teeth and backing like a maniac.

"Don't shout! It makes me nervous. Am I going over the flowers?"

CRASH! Well, there goes the mail box again.

12th-O VA Building To Go Up For Sale

The Veterans Administration Building at 12th and O will be sold, the Veterans Building Corp. announced Tuesday.

Stockholders, given the choice of selling the building or operating it as a general office building after the VA regional office moves to its new quarters at 17th and N, voted to sell the structure to the highest bidder.

Former Mayor Bennet S. Martin, president of the corporation, said an outside firm will be hired to appraise the building. He added that "considerable interest has already been expressed by several prospective buyers," but declined to disclose their names.

Martin, re-elected president of the corporation Tuesday, explained that several real estate firms have informed him they have prospective buyers in mind. Unofficial estimates have placed the building's value somewhere in the $400,000 to $500,000 bracket.

The building was purchased in 1947 by a group of Lincoln businessmen, who leased it to the Veterans Administration. The corporation paid $485,000 for the building and then spent $50,000 for remodeling and put up $10,000 in operating capital.

The corporation was formed by the purchase of about $175,000 in stock and a $360,000 loan was negotiated to purchase the building so the VA would not be forced to leave Lincoln due to lack of quarters, E. Phillips Watkins, re-elected vice-president of the corporation said.

10-Story Building

The 10-story building has nearly 45,000 sq. ft. net space, some 28,000 occupied by the VA and the rest occupied by other governmental agencies and business firms.

The government's lease on the building expires Dec. 31 of this year, but the VA expects to be installed in their new offices at that time. There is an option for a 6-month renewal if the new quarters are not finished by that time.

In addition to Martin and Watkins, other directors re-elected at the meeting are Archie J. Baley, secretary-treasurer and John E. Curtiss and Ralph Tyler Sr., directors.

The VA will take over the Hompes Tire Co. Bldg. at 17th and N after it is completely remodeled.

Charges Filed In Bus Driver's Death

Suspect Captured At Lake Resort

Omaha (AP)—First degree murder charges were filed in Omaha Tuesday against James Harding, 22, in the robbery slaying of Richard Whitehill, 32, Omaha bus driver, last February.

Harding was captured in a pre-dawn raid at a lake resort cabin near Onamia, Minn., about 100 miles north of Minneapolis, on information supplied by Omaha police.

Douglas County Attorney John Hanley and Chief Deputy Donald Knowles, left for Milaca, Minn., where Harding is held, to question him about the robbery killing.

The events leading up to Harding's arrest started with the investigation of a stabbing in Omaha. While investigating detectives found a .22 caliber revolver similar to the one used when Whitehill was found shot during a holdup at a bar last February, and also a black jacket similar to the one worn by the killer. The gun was registered to a relative of Harding.

Whitehill was en route home from a safety meeting the night of Feb. 19 when he stopped at a bar with two other drivers. Shortly before closing a tall white man wearing a red devil's mask held up the bar, shooting Whitehill and fleeing with about $975.

Cooler Trend Expected Here

'Justification To Improve Farm Land'

Washington (AP)—There is justification for spending millions of dollars to improve farm land in spite of huge crop surpluses now on hand, Sen. Gordon Allott (R-Colo) said Tuesday.

He told the National Watershed Congress that because of a steady increase in population there will be no problem of excess food production in possibly 10 or 15 years.

Sens. Francis Case (R-SD) and Alan Bible (D-Nev) said they agreed with Allott that it is desirable to improve farm land and bring about greater production through irrigation even though there are excesses of food stuffs now on hand.

Their views were expressed during a panel discussion of watershed and general land problems. The panel also included other members of congress and federal agency officials.

More than 20 agricultural business, industrial and conservation groups are sponsoring this 6th annual meeting of the Watershed Congress. One of its main purposes is to encourage local groups to support projects authorized by Congress in 1954, when it adopted the small watersheds act.

Aid For Western Eroded Land Seen Via Great Plains Plans

Washington (AP)—Nebraska's Congressional delegation was told Tuesday it is hoped much eroded land in the western part of the state can be improved through the Great Plains Conservation Program.

Warren Fairchild of Lincoln, executive secretary of the Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Assn., described the program as one which results in "complete conservation over the entire farm."

He said of the 10 states in the program, Nebraska ranks second in the number of contracts signed.

Fairchild, here for a watershed conference, told the weekly breakfast meeting of the state delegation there may be a shortage of funds for contracts early next year in view of a $5 million cut in program funds by the House.

Milton Fricke of Papillion, here for the same national meeting, also endorsed the Great Plains Program.

Mrs. Frank Butler, sister-in-law of the late Nebraska Senator Hugh Butler, also was a guest at the breakfast.

Dear Abby . . .

More Like You!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a boy eleven years old. I didn't have anything to do so I took our tools next door and cleaned up the neighbor's yard. They are two old people and he is lame and she works out. He came out on his crutches and made me take two dollars. Abby, I didn't want the two dollars. He said he would be mad at me if I didn't take it, so I had to take it. It took all the fun out of doing it for me. Do you think I should go back and try to get him to take his two dollars?

CUB SCOUT

DEAR CUB: Keep the two dollars. His "pride" might suffer if you tried to return it. Just keep right on doing those nice things for people who can't do for themselves and I predict a very happy life for you. Bless, you, Sonny.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I met a man at work and we fell in love at first sight you might say. He says he has no family or friends and doesn't like to talk about his past. I am 20 and have been on my own for four years, but I don't have much experience with men. I live with my grandparents and work at a factory. This man is handsome and treats me nice but he seems to have come from out of nowhere. Do you think his past is important?

NOT EXPERIENCED

DEAR NOT: A man's past is very important—especially if he doesn't like to talk about it. People who seem to have "come from out of nowhere" usually end up in the same place. Find out where he's been all your life or lose him.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, enclose a self-addressed envelope.

Bringing Up Baby®

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Wistful over that pre-baby figure that hasn't quite come back? If you're one of those gals who think planned exercise is a bore, why not make the most of the exercise you get in your daily routine? You can start by watching posture, sitting, standing, walking, working. Tighten your tummy, pull ribs away from hips by stretching whenever you can.

(Bedmaking is swell for this.) Amazing how these tricks help tone down a tummy, nip inches off a hip.

•

Eating delight at the beck and call of your baby's appetite. Gerber's Strained and Junior High Meat Dinners are favored by small fry because they have 3 times as much meat as regular vegetable and meat combinations. That means a lot more protein to help baby grow. The extra meat is subtly blended with vegetables and cereals for wonderfully interesting flavor and a generous assortment of nourishing food values. For mealtime variety, alternate 'em with the new Gerber's Cottage Cheese with Pineapple or meals containing Gerber Meats.

•

When babies begin to fend for themselves, there's many a fumble 'twixt the attempt and the accomplishment. I know it's a great temptation to help baby do the things he really wants to do himself, but self-reliance is often delayed if baby is helped too much. (Practice makes perfect, they say.) Best way to handle self-triers: Offer guidance when it looks like baby can't make it . . . keep a "hands off" policy if he's on the brink of success.

•

Teethers need extra helpings of loving care to distract them from discomfort. Besides cuddling, though, you can give baby blessed relief with Gerber Teething Biscuits. Smooth-surfaced and extra hard, they provide fine biting satisfaction and good gnawing exercise. Specially tapered for easy grasping. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Demo Accuses Strauss Of Attempt To 'Deceive'

Senate Committee Votes 9-8 For Nomination OK

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Gale McGee accused Lewis L. Strauss of "a naked attempt to deceive" a Senate committee and urged that his nomination as Secretary of Commerce be rejected.

The freshman Wyoming Democrat was one of 8 members of the Senate Commerce Committee who opposed Strauss' nomination after a series of stormy hearings. The committee finally voted 9-8 in favor of Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

McGee's new salvo came as behind-the-scenes maneuvering continued in preparation for a showdown vote on the nomination by the full Senate. Some veteran senators believe it may result in the first rejection of a cabinet-rank nomination since the Coolidge administration.

Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen said he gave President Eisenhower a general report on the status of pending nominations at a legislative conference at the White House.

'Confident'

"I still feel confident that Strauss will be confirmed," Dirksen told newsmen afterward.

There was no indication when the nomination will come up. But it will not be scheduled until after the Commerce Committee's report is available sometime next week.

McGee based his charge on one of the disputes that marked the long committee hearings. It started when Strauss told the committee he had not directed the preparation of a letter in 1956 about the government atomic reactor program.

This statement was at odds with Strauss testimony in the verbatim record of a House Appropriations subcommittee hearing. Strauss said the House committee record was incorrect and cited a minority report which charged the record had been "molded."

Bitter Blast

That produced a bitter blast from chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo) of the House Appropriations Committee who accused Strauss of questioning his honesty.

Former AEC general counsel William Mitchell entered the dispute by stating that Strauss did not see the 1956 letter until after it was sent.

McGee picked up the controversy in a Senate speech.

McGee said Cannon had the hearing transcript verified and it quoted Strauss as saying he asked that the letter be prepared.

McGee said Strauss now found the transcript's statement "embarrassing" and contended that "the record is wrong."

Scheele Receives Jaycee Good Governmnt Award

Lancaster County Atty. Elmer Scheele was awarded the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce annual Good Government Award Tuesday.

The award, presented at a Jaycee luncheon, was given to the 42-year-old attorney "on the basis of his public service during the past year."

Dwain L. Jones, chairman of the Jaycee's Good Government Award Committee, said the prosecution of convicted mass killer Charles Starkweather and his companion, Caril Ann Fugate, was foremost among his public service work.

Scheele was also cited for his work on the juvenile court bill and on the Advisory Committee on the Bill of Rights, a group of members of the American Bar Assn. which investigates alleged violations of the Bill of Rights.

Scheele first joined the county attorney's office in 1952 as a deputy. He successfully ran for the county attorney post in 1954 and was re-elected in 1958. He was unopposed in the last election.

Married and father of 3 children, Scheele is active in the Lutheran Church, Optimist's Club and the American Bar Assn. He lives at 2209 Ryons.

Patrol To Go All-Out On Memorial Day

All available State Safety Patrol troopers will be on Nebraska's highways this coming Memorial Day weekend, Administrative Assistant Robert Conrad announced Tuesday.

In addition, weather permitting, aircraft will patrol highways in the Alliance-Scottsbluff, North Platte and Lincoln-Omaha areas.

Safety Patrol Chief Col. C. J. Sanders said he is bracing for a maximum effort to curb traffic fatalities during the 3-day holiday weekend.

Five accidents claimed 5 lives on Memorial Day last year. Nine persons were killed during the 3-day weekend.

The last time the weekend was unblemished by fatalities was in 1952.

Institutional Building Fund Tax Levy Hike Approved

. . . Restored To Previous 1.1 Mill Level

The Legislature voted Tuesday to restore Nebraska's institutional building fund tax levy to the 1.1 mill level it had maintained until the economy-minded 1957 Legislature reduced it two years ago.

Approved 42-0 on final reading was LB583, hiking the special property tax levy from 75c to $1.10 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The revenue is used to construct buildings for the state and its institutions.

Incorporated in the measure also is a revised distribution formula which has the effect of increasing the revenue going to the University of Nebraska and the state normal schools, while decreasing the amount going to the Board of Control.

The new distribution formula (with previous percentage portions shown in parentheses):

University of Nebraska, 31% (45).
University of Nebraska, for construction in connection with research and education in the use, distribution and marketing of agricultural products, 10% (none).
University of Nebraska College of Agriculture and experiment stations, 10% (none).
Board of Control, 14% (20).
State Normal Schools, 25% (20).
Military Department, 1% (2).
Milford Vocational Technical School, 3% (3).
Governor, 6% (10).

Twenty per cent of the governor's portion is earmarked for air conditioning of the state Capitol.

LB583 carried the emergency clause, which means it will be applicable this year if Gov. Ralph Brooks signs it into law.

With the passage of the omnibus institutional building levy bill two measures which would have called for special levies were withdrawn from the Legislature by unanimous consent.

In both cases money for the purposes was included in LB583.

Sen. John Cooper of Humboldt withdrew LB315 which provided for a one fourth mill levy for capital improvements at the College of Agriculture and the experiment stations.

Sen. Norman Otte of Kearney withdrew LB485 providing a six tenths of a mill levy for 4 years for the State teachers colleges.

Topeka Derails Chiefs With 5-2 Win

Lincoln Boots Help Bonus Baby Shine

By Don Bryant

Lincoln ran into two kinds of trouble Tuesday night—some from Topeka's $100,000 bonus baby, Jim Maloney, and some of the Chiefs' own making.

The result, which was witnessed by only 371 fans, was a 5-2 win for the Reds in the rubber game of the short homestand.

Hard-throwing Maloney and Lincoln's Fritz Ackley hooked up in a tight duel until the 6th inning. Red first-sacker Dick Beall's 2nd inning homer and Chief Jim Lynn's homer in the 4th made it a 1-1 affair.

But in the 6th, Lincoln defense—which was to hurt the Chiefs on 3 later occasions—started to crack. Topeka's Paul Kelly made it around on an infield single, a throwing error by Chuck Lehman on the same play, an infield out and Ackley's wild pitch.

Another boot, plus a sacrifice fly, made it 3-1 for Topeka in the 7th and in the 8th the Reds broke it open.

This time Neil Skeeters' single, following Lehman's second error which would have ended the inning, drove in the final Red pair.

Lincoln couldn't do much with Maloney's riflings after Lynn's 3rd homer of the year except notch 5 singles. Mike Hershberger hit into a force to drive in the Chiefs other tally in the 8th.

The Chiefs got the first two men up in the 9th on base, but Red reliefer Joe Padilla saved Maloney's 2nd win by choking off the would-be rally.

Coupled with Des Moines Tuesday night victory, the Chiefs' loss slimmed their Three-I League lead to a single game.

Lincoln opens a series in Sioux City Wednesday night, with Phil Groth (3-1) slated to pitch for the Chiefs.

Smoke Signals . . . Attendance average for the 3-game homestand was a disappointing 525 . . . Lincoln Catcher Gene Martin was booted in the 9th inning. After Adolfo Suaraz drew a walk, Martin held a short debate with plate umpire Bill Hatch and lost.

St. Ludger's, Concordia Win

...In State Baseball Meet

By Al Beebe

Creighton St. Ludger's and Seward Concordia both got 1-hit pitching to win Class C and B state baseball championships as rain delayed Class A action on the University diamond Tuesday.

St. Ludger's downed Filley, 9-0, behind the hurling of sophomore southpaw Alan Closter, while Monte Frohm had some anxious moments before beating Papillion, 4-1, in 8 innings.

Those games were slated for Tuesday morning, but did not get underway until afternoon due to wet grounds from heavy early morning rain.

Class A games were postponed until today. Lincoln Southeast will meet Boys Town at 9:30 a.m., followed by Lincoln High vs Omaha Cathedral. The winners will meet in a championship game about an hour after the second contest—probably about 2:30.

Frohm and Papillion's Butch Oliver had a fine pitching duel in the Class B title game. Through 4 innings, Frohm had set Papillion down in order while his mates got only one hit off Oliver. But action opened up in the 5th.

Concordia loaded the bases on a pair of scratch singles and an error with none away, but Oliver got out of the inning without a run as he forced Concordia to hit 3 balls to the infield, resulting in a pair of homeplate forceouts.

But Frohm had his only bad inning in the bottom of the 5th when third baseman Gary Klussman made a pair of errors. Frohm threw Doug Cornwall out at home on an attempted squeeze play, but then uncorked a wild pitch which allowed George Landgren to score.

Concordia got the run back in the 6th on a walk and Norm Miller's booming triple. In the bottom of the frame, pitcher Oliver got the only hit of the game off Frohm, a single over second base.

St. Ludger's had little difficulty winning its second state Class C title behind Closter's effective pitching. The only hit was a first-inning double by Don Armstrong.

A pair of 4-run innings made it easy for St. Ludger, which made 5 double plays in 2 games.

Yankees Trade 4 For Pair Of A's

New York (AP)—The slumping New York Yankees again turned to Kansas City for help Tuesday, completing the 14th deal between the two clubs. The Yanks got infielder Hector Lopez and pitcher Ralph Terry for pitchers Tom Sturdivant and Johnny Kucks, infielder Jerry Lumpe and a 4th player to be named before the start of next season.

The Kansas City-New York shuffles, starting shortly after the A's moved west in 1955 into former Yankee farm territory, have involved 52 players. Several have made the trip both ways or to a minor league outlet.

However, it was the first time in more than two decades that a player had moved up in he world by being traded away from the Yankees. At the time of the deal, the Athletics were in 6th place and the New Yorkers in last.

Terry, a 6-2 right-hander from Chelsea, Okla., toiled in the Yankee chain until 1957. Then he was tossed into the deal that also sent Billy Martin and Woody Held to the A's for Harry Simpson, Ryne Duren and two minor leaguers. Terry certainly will get into the starting rotation on the thin Yankee staff. In 7 starts for the A's, the 23-year-old pitcher has managed a 2-4 won-lost record.

Lopez, in the midst of a sizzling batting streak with 6 hits, including two doubles, two triples and two homers, in his last 12 at bats, is batting .281. He has 6 homers and 24 runs batted in. The 27-year-old infielder from Panama has been used at second base by the A's this season. Presumably he will be shifted back to 3rd ase where he is more at home.

Haddix Couldn't Keep Pitch Low

...Knew He Had No-Hitter

Milwaukee (AP)—"He hit a high slider but I tried to keep it down and away."

That was Pittsburgh southpaw Harvey Haddix' explanation of the key pitch of the only hit off him in a heart-breaking 2-0 loss of the Milwaukee Braves.

Haddix retired 36 men in order. He was discouraged but not down-hearted following his brilliant performance in becoming the longest perfect game pitcher in major league history.

"All I kept thinking of was trying to keep them from scoring," the 33-year-old ace said. "I knew I had a no hitter—knew it all the time. I didn't know I had a perfect game. I thought I might have walked a man somewhere along the line."

Haddix retired the heavy hitting Braves in order for 12 innings until Felix Mantilla reached first on a throwing error by 3rd baseman Don Hoak. The Pirates protested vigorously that Mantilla had rounded first and had been tagged out but the umpires disagreed.

After Eddie Mathews sacrificed Hank Aaron was intentionally walked. But Joe Adcock crossed up the strategy by hitting a one-ball pitch over the fence to the right of the 390 foot mark.

"It was a bad pitch," Haddix said later. "A high pitch which I tried to keep down and away. I made a few other mistakes but I got away with it. I guess I should have walked Adcock."

Haddix, who weighed a slender 155 pounds after the grueling test, recalled that he once before had a no-hitter in the National League facing the Philadelphia Phillies while with St. Louis in 1954. He hurled hitless ball then until Richie Ashburn led off the 9th with a single.

The Pittsburgh southpaw, acquired in the off season in a multi-player trade with Cincinnati, admitted that he tired during the last two or 3 innings.

"They were hitting me pretty good then but the boys were getting them," Haddix said.

"I think I've been as sharp before but I just kept going along.

"It's just another loss—and they're not good."

2-0 Win To Braves In 13th Frame

Error, Walk, Rule Book Double Break String

Milwaukee (AP) — Joe Adcock of the Milwaukee Braves hit a towering drive into the stands in the last half of the 13th inning to spoil Pittsburgh's Harvey Haddix's great effort for a no-hit game Tuesday night but he got credit for only a double and the Braves won 2-0.

Umpire Frank Dascoli ruled that Adcock was passing Henry Aaron between second and 3rd and therefore could not get credit for a home run.

Haddix pitched a perfect game through 12 innings, retiring 36 men in order before Felix Mantilla got on base on a throwing error in the 13th inning. Aaron was walked intentionally and then Adcock blasted his long drive into the stands.

Mantilla, first batter in the 13th, became the first Milwaukee base runner when Don Hoak, Pirate third baseman, threw wildly on a routine bounder. Mantilla moved to second on Eddie Mathews' sacrifice. Aaron was purposely passed. Then Adcock broke up the game.

Aaron, however, stopped at second base and crossed the pitcher's mound. Adcock thus ran past him and was automatically out. Both then retraced their steps and Aaron's run was ruled valid.

Lew Burdette of the Braves, in chalking up his 8th victory against two defeats, kept 12 hits well scattered.

Haddix, 33, veteran lefthander acquired by the Pirates from Cincinnati last winter, became the first man in modern National League history to pitch a perfect game for 9 innings. The last National Leaguer to accomplish the feat was John Ward of Providence in 1880.

From the 10th inning on, Haddix was in a class by himself as the first man ever to pitch a perfect game of more than 9 innings. His was even the longest no-hitter in history.

Before the end came, only 7 balls were hit at all hard against Haddix. Mathews hit two, Del Crandall two and Burdette, Johnny Logan and Pinchhitter Del Rice one each.

A crowd of 19,194 saw the historic contest.

Haddix fanned 8 men in retiring the powerful Braves in order over the first 9 innings. Pittsburgh batters got 8 hits off Milwaukee's Lew Burdette over the same distance but the Pirates were unable to get a run across.

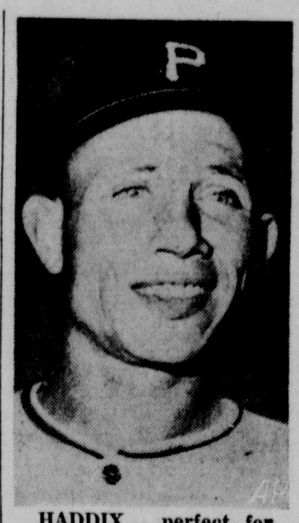
Don Larsen pitched the last perfect game in major league history for the New York Yankees against the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series of 1956.



HADDIX . . . perfect for 12 innings.

National League president Warren Giles said later in Cincinnati that he believed the final score of the game eventually would be changed by official ruling to 1-0 rather than 2-0.

Giles said he could make "no official ruling" until he studies reports on the game, but expressed the opinion that only the number of runs sufficient to win the game for Milwaukee should have been allowed by the game umpires to count.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant

Sports Editor, The Star

Cowboys Right At Home

Any questions about Oklahoma State's ability to compete in the Big 8 Conference have been resolved in favor of the Cowpokes.

Certainly OSU's athletic program—directed by the wily cage veteran Henry Iba—is proving more than adequate by Big 8 standards.

Of course, a few teeth-gnashers will point out that the Cowboys have been too good and have cut some oldtimers out of the money. But that's all right, too. Important point is that OSU is no weak-sister by any means. The Pokes have added a great measure of class to the Big 8.

Consider, if you will, the accomplishments of the past year: A fine football team which held Oklahoma to a 7-0 victory, then climaxed the season with a bowl triumph. Conference championships in baseball, wrestling, tennis and golf. A runner-up club in the loop outdoor track meet after winding up 7th in the indoor. And, of course, two 15-5 pole vaulters in Aubrey Dooley and Jim Graham.

Only real disappointment for the Stillwater school was the failure of the basketball team to finish in the first division. But Henry just didn't have the horses this year after losing two of his veterans to major league baseball scouts. Count on the Pokes to be in the thick of the 1959-60 battle.

Whale Of A Battle

It was tough for the Nebraska Cornhuskers to surrender conference baseball title hopes to the weather. But there was no question about OSU having a fine team (17-3 record) and deserving of the crown.

Meanwhile, the second place finish of Tony Sharpe's Scarlets must rate a gigantic round of applause. Always minus spring training, the Huskers usually give a fine account of themselves.

This year was no exception. Few of us gave NU much of a chance, but the Husker kept plugging and came in with a surprise runner-up spot.

It was another example of getting a lot of mileage out of a bunch of kids who don't see sunshine until May and then not very much. That's a Tony Sharpe speciality.

No Slouches Allowed

Returning to O-State track, Coach Ralph Higgins says, "It will take a consistent 15-6 vaulter to make the Olympic team in 1960."

Chances are 3 Oklahomans—Graham, Dooley and J. D.

Don Ferrarese Blanks Chisox

Chicago (AP)—Pint-sized Don Ferrarese was a demon on the mound and at the plate Tuesday night, stifling the Chicago White Sox on 3 singles through 6⅓ innings and thumping 3 doubles in a 3-0 Cleveland Indian victory.

The league-leading Tribe went ahead of the second place Sox by two games while taking the opener of a two-game series before a crowd of 40,018, largest at Comiskey Park since 1957.

Ferrarese, a 5-9 southpaw who will be 30 next month, ran his record to 4-2 in handing the Sox their 3rd straight loss.

His doubles came in successive times at bat, and two of them produced runs. Ferrarese scored another himself.

Sox Manager Al Lopez wasn't around for the fireworks which President Bill Veeck lit in the bull pen after the game, but the senor made some for himself in the second inning. He was chased to the showers by plate umpire Frank Tabacchi for protesting a called strike on Nellie Fox.

Ferrarese left in the 7th after serving a walk—his 6th—to Earl Torgeson with one away.

Garver Hit By Detroit In 9-5 Loss

Kansas City (AP)—Detroit hitters knocked Ned Garver out in less than 3 innings Tuesday night and coasted to a 9-5 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

The Tigers continued their 12-hit attack against relievers Murry Dickson and Dick Tomanek and included home runs by Charley Maxwell and Tom Morgan. Dick Williams hit a round-tripper for the Athletics.

Morgan came into the game in the 7th in relief of Paul Foytack, who stayed around long enough to get credit for his second pitching decision of the year. He has lost 6. The loss evened Garver's record at 3-3.

WAGNER'S POKE BEATS DODGERS

San Francisco (AP) — Pinch hitter Leon Wagner hit a bases-loaded home run against reliever Art Fowler's second pitch in the 9th inning tonight, giving San Francisco a 6-4 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Lefty Sandy Koufax struck out 11 batters and was sailing along with a 4-2 lead going into the 9th. But he loaded the bases on walks to Jackie Brandt and Daryl Spencer and Felipe Alou's single.

Right-hander Fowler replaced Koufax, and Wagner batted for catcher Bob Schmidt. The second pitch sailed over the 371-foot mark in center field.

The victory kept the Giants in second place in the National League, 3 games behind Milwaukee.

Cancer Takes Life Of Big Ed Walsh

Pompano Beach, Fla. (AP)—Big Ed Walsh, one of baseball's greatest pitchers, died Tuesday of cancer, a shadow of the man who once won 40 games for the Chicago White Sox.

Since he came to Florida in retirement 3 years ago, Walsh has been in and out of hospitals. Always he retained his keen interest in modern day baseball.

For years Walsh was a regular summer visitor at Cooperstown, N.Y., where in 1946 he was inducted into Baseball's Hall of Fame. Only failing health could keep him away when new members were being honored.

Newcombe Stops Phils; Wins 2-1

Cincinnati (AP)—Big Don Newcombe pitched his 3rd straight victory and 3rd straight complete game Tuesday night and it brought the Cincinnati Reds to a 2-1 decision over the Philadelphia Phils.

Newcombe helped his own cause along by knockin, in the run that proved to be the winning one.

The triumph ended a 4 game losing streak for Cincinnati.

Ruben Gomez was the losing hurler. He twisted his knee running out a bunt in the 3rd inning but was able to continue until relieved by a pinch hitter in the 7th. He was helped along immeasurably by several tremendous catches by Phil outfielders.

Harry Anderson accounted for Philadelphia's only run with a home run in the 7th.

The Reds' only scoring outburst came in the 4th. With one out Frank Thomas walked. Ed Bailey flied out, but Roy McMillan doubled to the left field corner, and Thomas scored when Carl Sawatski dropped a throw on him at home plate.

Then Newcombe came up with his single that scored McMillan.

The Phils offered no serious threats to Newcombe until Anderson homered to lead off the 7th. The big righthander then yielded singles to Sawatski and pinch hitter Dave Philley before getting the side out.

POINT BLANK

Martin, an OU product—will be in the running all the way. Martin has cleared 15-3¾ as a soph.

Reviewing the progress of the vault twins, Higgins says: "The event requires great preparation, also marvelous coordination and skill—not to mention courage at those heights . . . They are exacting in their criticism of each other and willing to spend endless practice time on the most minute detail. They have tremendous competitive spirit and confidence."

In case you've forgotten, Graham is the same vaulter who qualified for the 1956 Olympics by going 14-8½ to beat Bob Gutowski, the current world record holder.

When Graham turned up with an injury, he voluntarily yielded his spot on the Olympic team to Gutowski and the latter has gone on to fame.

Such outstanding sportmanship makes Graham's recent achievements particularly satisfying.

Woodling's HR Beats Nats, 6-5

Baltimore (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles licked the Washington Senators 6-5 for the 6th time in their 8 games on Gene Woodling's 3-run homer in the 6th inning and another pitching relief saver by Billy Loes.

Loes barely scraped by for his 8th saving game of the season. He came on in the 9th with two Senators on base and none out.

Ron Samford grounded into a double play, but Reno Bertoia and Bob Allison singled in a pair of runs to cut Baltimore's edge to 6-5. Harmon Killebrew grounded into a force play, however, to end the contest.

It was Woodling's second circuit clout this season, and it enabled the Orioles to overcome a 3-1 deficit.

Faye Throneberry had put the Senators ahead in the top of the 6th with his first homer of the season with a runner on base.

Red Sox' Brewer Halts Yanks, 12-2

New York (AP) — Right-hander Tom Brewer gave up a pair of first-inning runs, then blanked the New York Yankees on 4 hits the rest of the way Tuesday night as the Boston Red Sox halted their skid with a 12-2 victory that pushed the world champs deeper into the cellar.

The Red Sox, who had slipped within a half game of the American League basement by losing 9 of their last 12, mushroomed a one-run lead into a rout with 5 runs in the 7th and 4 in the 8th.

The big 7th chased Yankee right-hander Bob Turley, who has lost 3 in a row for the first time since 1955. Turley, baseball's No. 1 pitcher last season with a 21-7 record, now is 3-6.

Brewer squared his overall record at 3-3 while gaining a 2-1 edge over the Yankees this season. All 3 of those decisions were against Turley. He gave up 7 hits in this one.

The Red Sox collected 12 hits off 4 Yank hurlers. They tied it with two runs in the second and took a 3-2 lead in the 3rd on two of Turley's 8 walks and a single by Dick Gernert.

Boston had only 3 hits until the 7th, however, when Vic Wertz followed a pair of walks with an RBI single. Gary Geiger and Pete Daley, who had combined to drive in the second-inning runs, also hit run-scoring singles in the outburst. Delay had 4 rbi.

Brewer, who beat Turley 4-0 with a two-hitter in his last start against the Yankees, struck out 7 and walked but two.

The Yankees scored in the first on consecutive singles by leadoff man Gil McDougald, Tony Kubek and Mickey Mantle and a doubleplay.

In other league games, Elba bested Ashton 10-5 and Farwell romped past Greeley 14-1.

Sunday's schedule calls for Farwell at Ashton, Scotia at Elba, Loup City at Wolbach and Greeley at Spalding.

Famed Sire Nasrullah Is Dead At Age Of 19

Among others, champions he sired included Nashua, Bold Ruler and Nadir.

1926 Relay Mark Still Not Broken

...Central Teams Best In '59

(Third in a series reviewing the 1959 Nebraska prep track season and the all-time honor roll. Today — the relays.)

By Al Beebe

State track coaches got serious about relay running in the state high school meet and set several fast times, but one of the oddest all-time best marks is still unapproached.

That is the 8:17.6 two-mile relay mark by Hastings in 1926, still the fastest the event has been run by Nebraska preps. The Hastings time is 4 seconds faster than the best run since the event became part of the regular slate in Nebraska.

That Hastings team, composed of Cliff Kennedy, Adam Hohnstein, Alex Pauley and Walter Fricke, also had the best mile relay time of that year, 3:33.2. Only Fricke was outstanding in an individual event, as he shared the state 880 Gold Medal with a 2:03.3 effort.

The state record for the event is the 8:21.6 by Lexington a year ago. Lincoln Northeast won this year's meet with 8:25.7. The Rocket time is 9th on the all-time chart, with Kearney, which trailed in 8:26.2, now 10th.

Grand Island, an 8:30.9 finisher in the state meet, is 23rd on the all-time list and Beatrice, which did 8:31.4 in district competition, gets the last spot on the 25-place Honor Roll.

Marks in other relays were more impressive, paced by state champion Omaha Central. The Eagles won the 880 relay in 1:31.9, which is 5th-fastest in history, and Central added a 8:28.7 clocking in the mile relay, also No. 5 on the roster.

Central pulled several other teams into the all-time honor roll in both events. In the 880, second place Columbus is tied for 10th with 1:23.-1, while Lexington is tied for 14th at 1:32.2. Omaha Benson did 1:32.3 earlier in the year for a tie for 19th spot, while North Platte is also on the list at 1:32.4.

In addition to Central's mile relay clocking, Omaha Tech is right behind in 6th place after chasing Central home with 3:29. Lincoln High ties a 1930 Scottsbluff team for 7th with 3:30.4.

Beatrice ran 3:31.2 and is 12th.

Here is the top 10 honor roll and the state record for the relay events:

Kansans Land Record Northern Pike At Enders

A new northern pike record plus lunker walleye and bass catches highlighted the State Game Commission's weekly fishing report released Tuesday.

The new state record is a 48 inch, 25½ pound northern pulled from Enders Reservoir by Goodland, Kan. anglers Tom Kinder and Larry Reid.

The old record for northern pike was 25 pounds by R. O. DeFord of Ogallala in 1951 and tied by O. D. Moon of Sterling, Colo., in 1952. Both fish came from McConaughy Reservoir. The catch was reported by conservation officer Lee Bowers.

The western reservoirs provided the best fishing during the past week. Medicine Creek and Enders were top fishing spots.

Three other Goodland anglers had luck at Enders. Harry Bithe took a 5 pound walleye and a 5 pound bass from the reservoir. Paul Rasure took a 19 pound blue catfish and Twila Kirkendall hooked a 7½ pound walleye. Enders also produced some fine crappie catches.

Swanson Reservoir was also one of the top crappie spots in the state.

Crappie, bass and walleye were hitting at Medicine Creek. Bill Jones of McCook took a 2¼ pound crappie in the Lime Creek area. Crappie fishing has been best in the willows in the shallow bays on the west side of the lake.

White bass up to two pounds have been coming out of the Republican River at the diversion dams near Indianola and Cambridge.

Orville Fritsch of Trenton and Burdie Crist of Gering had good sandpit luck. Fishing in a pit near Trenton Fritsch caught a 17 pound catfish. Crist, fishing in a Scotts Bluff County sandpit took a 7 pound, 9 ounce bass.

The lakes at Alexandria have also been good for bluegills, crappie and bullhead.

"Leave off the wings...and you've got the Rambler Idea!"

YES—they're sisters under the skin, that big jet we're building and my compact Rambler out there in the parking lot. And those two are making the hot transportation news today.

Remember back in 1940, when we were working around the clock building bombers? Even then, the makers of Rambler had decided to build cars a new, better way—the aircraft way, with Single Unit Construction.*

Others kept on putting cars together the old way. They made a frame in one factory—a body in another. Then, both were shipped to an assembly plant and bolted together like an oxcart. And that's the way they still do it—except for Rambler and two of America's most expensive cars that recently got the Rambler Idea.

It cost a lot of money

Back in 1940, the American Motors people spent fifty million dollars on a new plant and equipment to build cars with Single Unit Construction using aircraft engineering principles.

That was a lot of money, and it bought a lot more in those days. Guess it would cost at least twice that now.

After ten years of experience in building cars with Single Unit Construction, the first modern Rambler made its bow in 1950. The Compact Car was born.

Compact Car reverses trend*

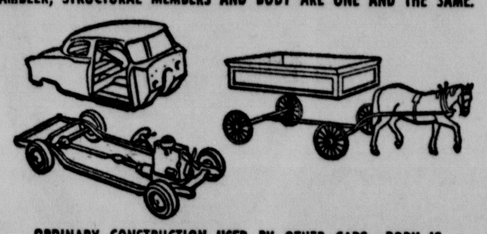
Sometimes new ideas are slow to catch on. Other cars continued their size and horsepower race, but Rambler stuck to its guns.

At first, progress was slow, but time and events have proved that Rambler was betting on a sure thing. Because Rambler was putting its confidence in the basic intelligence of the American motorist. And thanks to Single Unit Construction, Rambler was able to give the motorist more of what he really wanted.

Rambler offered me a car that handles like a small car in traffic and like a big car out on the highway . . . a car with plenty of room for six big six-footers . . . a car with luxury comforts generally associated with cars costing twice as much . . . a car that gives matchless economy of operation and top resale value . . . and, best of all, a car that will out-park, out-garage and outmaneuver any other American car on the road.

And Rambler's aircraft-type Single Unit Construction is the basis for all these advantages.

IN JET AIRCRAFT, STRUCTURAL MEMBERS AND FUSELAGE ARE ONE AND THE SAME. IN RAMBLER, STRUCTURAL MEMBERS AND BODY ARE ONE AND THE SAME.



ORDINARY CONSTRUCTION USED BY OTHER CARS—BODY IS BOLTED ON SEPARATE FRAME LIKE THE OLD-FASHIONED WAGON.

Last year, I woke up to the advantages of the Compact Car. I decided to get a car built the modern way . . . the way we build airplanes here in the factory. I was one of the hundreds of thousands who got the Rambler Idea.

That was the year that turned ideas about automotive design upside down. While most car sales slipped badly, Rambler sales doubled in 1958. And I read last week that Rambler now outsells most of the big cars and is outselling all five of the most popular foreign cars combined.

The excellence of being basic

The Rambler Idea is basic, because Rambler fulfills all my basic transportation needs. And Rambler is built the basic way—with aircraft-type Single Unit Construction, the only way a truly modern or compact car can properly be built.

Because Rambler understood my basic needs, I have a greater and better choice of cars today. Because I have a car that's backed by 20 years of experience in building cars the better Single Unit way, I benefit from an unmatched standard of quality and workmanship. I'm getting my share of the billions of dollars in savings that Rambler has made possible for American motorists.

Think it over. Wouldn't it make a lot of sense if you, too, got the Rambler Idea? It's basic!

What Rambler's Single Unit Construction means to You

1. DEPENDABILITY—All-welded Rambler construction takes greater punishment and remains like new, free of rattles and squeaks.
2. ROOM—Single Unit aircraft engineering gives you more room inside with less bulk outside.
3. ECONOMY—The Compact Rambler costs least to own and operate . . . gives better resale value than any other low-priced car.
4. PERFORMANCE—Single Unit Construction eliminates the drag of dead weight to give you a better power-to-weight ratio.
5. LONG LIFE—Rambler is designed and engineered to last longer, not look longer.
6. COMFORT—Single Unit Construction makes possible the ample head-room, comfort-height seats and deep-coil riding comfort unequalled by many bigger, more expensive cars.
7. CONVENIENCE—Among 2-car families owning Rambler and a bigger car, four out of five drive the Rambler most because of its fun and convenience.
8. MANEUVERABILITY—Free of excess length and bulk, Rambler turns sharper, steers easier than any other American car.
9. STRENGTH AND SAFETY—Rambler surrounds the entire passenger compartment in a "safety cage" of rugged, steel box-girders forming a structure that is far stronger than ordinary construction.

Deadline Passes, But Soviets Don't Close Off West Berlin

By Frank H. Bartholomew

Berlin (Wednesday) (UPI) —The Soviets did not carry out their ultimatum to close off West Berlin at midnight.

It is now Wednesday, as this dispatch is written in the United Press International bureau following a round-trip to East Berlin without incident or challenge through the historic Brandenburg Gate.

The car, driven by Joseph Fleming, U.P.I. manager for Berlin, approached the communist frontier shortly before midnight, and parked, lights extinguished, in the silent and windy dark.

At the stroke of midnight, we proceeded toward the extreme righthand arch of the 5 entranceways through the great gate.

Waved On

A hundred yards from the gate a West German customs officer glanced at us briefly and waved us on.

There were no sentries at the arch. A hundred feet beyond we thought we might have trouble. An erect military figure in the dark held out an illuminated vertical stick to halt us. We slowed down, prepared to stop. The military silhouette turned sharply to the left, the illuminated stick became horizontal. We were waved on into the Soviet sector of Berlin.

A few blocks from the ruins bordering the sector on the east side, with no traffic or pedestrians visible, we made a U-turn and started back for the gate along the opposite roadway of the double lane.

Car Halted

At the gate again, approaching West Berlin, a car ahead of us was halted and the driver forced to alight. Three uniformed men surrounded it. The car had German license plates.

"We have American plates," our driver said. "We should have better luck."

We did. Our plates were briefly examined, we were waved on. We passed under the great arch for the second time since the famous deadline set by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and were back once more in West Berlin.

The 6-month ultimatum had expired and the Soviets had made no move to annul the western occupation rights in the city isolated 110 miles inside the Soviet Zone.

Trains, Too

Military trains were expected to travel without interference through the communist territory separating Berlin from West Germany.

These rights of free access and movement would have been abrogated had the Soviets decided to carry out their plan to make West Berlin a so-called free, demilitarized city.

The Soviet failure to act at the announced deadline was accepted in Berlin as a postponement rather than an abrogation of the Khrushchev ultimatum.

The Soviets now say they will refuse to recognize western rights in the city after a German peace treaty has been signed.

A new deadline will be established, the Red leaders say, if the foreign ministers conference at Geneva fails to reach agreement on Berlin.

Draws Rebuke

Baton Rouge, La. (AP) — Gov. Earl Long, rarely at a loss for words, used a few choice ones and drew a stinging rebuke for profanity during a committee hearing of the House of Representatives.

Long apologized to the children in the gallery, saying he had sent for his Bible but "it didn't get here in time."

His repentance concluded with this invitation:

"Let's me and the children and the good nuns swear we won't use any profanity as long as it is possible."

GOP Launches 2 Plans For 'Sweeping Victory'

Akron, Ohio (UPI) —Senator Thurston E. Morton (R-Ky), chairman of the Republican national committee, said Tuesday night that the party was launching two programs aimed at "insuring a sweeping Republican victory in 1960."

Morton, in an address here before the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Organizations, said the GOP was seeking to mobilize two million more party workers between now and September of 1960.

"I am counting upon Republican women's organizations such as yours to recruit most of those workers," he said.

'Recruit Now'

Morton explained that the mobilization is part of the party's "recruit now for '60" program, which is aimed at strengthening the Republican Party at state and local levels.

He then went on to explain that a "Republican Bell Ringers" campaign, inaugurated by assistant chairman, Mrs. Clare B. Williams, provides the means of reaching people directly—by personal contact and by telephone.

"If, between now and November of 1960, every Republican worker would ring at least one new doorbell and one new telephone number each day, the way would be paved for a certain victory," Morton said.

The chairman then went on to sing the praises of the present administration.

"This nation has enjoyed 6½ years of unparalleled prosperity and progress under the present administration," he said. "Measured by virtually every yardstick, they represent the best years of our history.

"Currently there is a tremendous upswing in employment and general business activity which seems certain to carry over into 1960. New records are being established on virtually every economic front," Morton said.

He then cited the fact that unemployment dropped by 735,000 in April and at the same time employment rose by nearly 1.2 million to a total of more than 65 million.

Highway Commission Power Debate Starts

By Betty Person

Adjournment of the Legislature Tuesday interrupted debate on a measure which would take control of the State Highway Department from under the governor and place it in the hands of the State Highway Commission, now merely an advisory body.

Th executive highway commission bill, LB338, was introduced by Sens. Marvin Lautenschlager of Grand Island, Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City, Richard Marvel of Hastings, H. K. Diers of Gresham, Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, and J. W. Burbach of Crofton.

As soon as the bill came up for its initial floor debate Tuesday afternoon, Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha made a motion to kill it.

'Set State Back'

Klaver argued that the bill, which would give broad authority to the 7-member commission, would "set the state back 50 years as far as highways are concerned."

He declared it would produce "trading an politicking of the lowest kind," and "finagling and jacking around in the department that spends more money than any other department in state government."

Sen. Bridenbaugh defended the bill stating that he feels the Highway Commission "has been doing an outstanding job."

Changed Mind

He noted he was first opposed to the Highway Advisory Commission but that he had changed his mind after former Gov. Victor Anderson had given the group some authority.

Sen. William Skarda of Omaha also spoke in favor of the bill declaring he believed it was a measure desired by a great many people.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff opposed the bill on grounds that it was time to "stop the delegation of power to commissions and give responsibility to the governor."

He said members of a commission "can play one off against another," with the result that the public doesn't know where to go to get an answer.

By placing the responsibility under the governor, Carpenter continued, people will have one place to go, and if they don't like the answer "they can take him out."

Debate on the measure is scheduled to resume when the Legislature reconvenes Wednesday.

Armed Clash

Agadir, Morocco (AP)—Moroccan irregulars and a unit of the Royal Armed Forces fought an armed clash in the desert south of here, government sources reported.

The incident occurred when King Mohammed V arrived in Agadir for a tour of South Morocco.

Spry Age Of 96

New York (AP) — Retired Methodist Bishop Herbert Welch, at the spry age of 96, is undertaking a 10-weeks vacation tour of the West Coast and Canada—most of it by air.

The first leg, from New York to San Francisco, will be by jet plane.

Disturbing Peace Charge Brings Plea Of Innocent

Gloyd W. Gordon of 1801 Otoe pleaded innocent Tuesday in Lancaster County Court to a disturbing the peace charge which was filed after an incident involving the wife of a deputy sheriff.

Gordon, according to a sheriff's office report, had been driving by the home of Dep. Sheriff Robert Lane at 2821 A for more than a month and attempting to get Mrs. Lane to come out of the house. The 53-year-old man was arrested Monday night by Dep. Lane as he (Gordon) pulled up in front of the Lane home.

Judge Herbert A. Ronin set Gordon's trial for June 10 and set his appearance bond at $50.

Corn Planting Still Lags With Only 35% In Ground

Corn planting is lagging 5 days to a week in Nebraska with some counties reporting only 5% of the acreage planted, the weekly crop report noted.

The State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics said at the end of last week the state picture for corn planting was that about 35% of the crop is planted.

Usually by May 23, the crop report said, 60% or more is in the ground.

A number of counties in the east central and southeast are far behind and are reporting less than 5% of the corn in the ground, the report said.

Corn planting made fair progress in western and central counties where the rainfall was not as heavy.

Also, a few good working days in parts of the northeast permitted good strides in some of those counties.

The planting this season has been progressing on par with the 1957 crop when planting also was delayed by wet weather, the crop report said.

Winter wheat began to head in the southern part of the state but streak mosaic is being reported in a number of central and western counties. Some damage was noted.

Hail also caused wheat damage in scattered sections of the central and southwest districts, the report said.

Oats and barley made slow growth and need more sunshine and warmth. Alfalfa and pastures have been making good to excellent growth except where dry conditions held up earlier development.

Wet feed lots were disagreeable in eastern sections and cattle were not making the usual gains, the report said.

Livestock has been getting more grain feed now that pastures have improved and stock cattle along with the new calf crop are in good to excellent condition, the report said.

Rainfall throughout the state during the past week included:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| | East | | |
| Grand Island | 1.36 | Norfolk | 2.13 |
| Lincoln | 2.57 | Omaha | 1.01 |
| | Central | | |
| Burwell | 1.02 | Valentine | .35 |
| North Platte | 1.93 | | |
| | West | | |
| Chadron | .42 | Scottsbluff | .55 |
| Imperial | 1.12 | Sidney | 1.45 |

Rainfall by sections in the state from the beginning of the growing season on April 1 as compared to the longtime average includes:

Southeast—9.03 inches (1959); 5.37 inches (average).
Northwest—4.23; 3.86.
North Central—4.59; 4.21.
Northeast—8.24; 4.62.
Central—5.68; 4.36.
East Central—9.13; 4.88.
Southwest—4.79; 4.14.
South Central—6.80; 4.66.

Dull Stock Market Irregularly Down

New York (AP)—The stock market was able to muster no enthusiasm for a moderate rise Tuesday and ended the session irregularly lower. Trading was relatively slow.

The performance was a rough parallel with Monday's when the market failed to hold a gain and was thrown for a fairly severe loss. Tuesday's setback was very slight on average and was mainly accounted for by a downturn in rails and some backwardness in utilities.

Volume slipped to 2,910,000 shares compared with 3,260,000 Monday and was the smallest since April 9 when 2,830,000 shares changed hands.

Key stocks showed gains or losses running from fractions to more than a point. There were a few wider moves including a 17-point rise by International Business Machines, not sensational for this high-price stock which closed at 492.

The industrial section of the market was unchanged on average. A slight edge to the upside was maintained by steels, chemicals and coppers. Some tobaccos were down sharply. Drugs declined. Space age stocks were thoroughly mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 30 cents to $288.90 with the industrials unchanged, the rails off 6 cents and the utilities off 30 cens.

Of 1,2221 issues traded, 620 declined and 385 advanced. There were 34 new highs for the year and 43 new lows.

Nine of the 15 most active stocks advanced, 5 declined and 1 was unchanged.

Corporate bonds declined in active trading.

Long-term U.S. Treasury bonds were unchanged to slightly higher.

Bond sales totaled $5,790,000 par value.

2 Pay Hike Bills Passed In Face Of Veto Warning

. . . Veto Of Earlier Measure Upheld

Despite a veto threat by Gov. Ralph Brooks, the Legislature Tuesday passed two salary increase bills, and then failed to override a new gubernatorial veto of a salary bill passed earlier.

Brooks recently advised the Legislature he would veto all salary increase bills.

Nevertheless, the Unicameral Tuesday passed bills boosting the pay of the governor, Supreme Court judges, district court judges and deputies attorney general, auditor, secretary of state and treasurer.

Message Read

Hardly had the two bills been passed, however, when a governor's message vetoing a salary bill passed earlier was read to the assembly. The target was LB536, introduced by Sens. Jack Romans of Ord and J. O. Peck of Columbus, increasing the salary of the State Railway Commission's secretary from $6,500 to $7,000.

Sen. Romans moved immediately to override the veto, and Sen. Marvin Lautenschlager of Grand Island spoke in support of the move.

The vote was 22-18, 4 "aye" votes short of the 26 needed to overpower the veto.

The salary bills passed Tuesday showed enough strength to override the inevitable vetoes.

28-13 Vote

Approved 28-13 was LB2, introduced by Sen. David Tews of Norfolk, increasing the salary of Supreme Court judges from $12,000 to $13,000 a year; the governor's pay from $11,000 to $14,000, and the pay of district court judges from $10,000 to $11,000.

Okayed 30-12 was LB404, introduced by Sens. Tews and Stanley Portsche of Lincoln. It increases the salary of the chief deputy attorney general from $8,000 to $9,000 a year, and the pay of the deputy auditor, deputy secretary of state and deputy treasurer from $6,500 to $7,000.

Neither bill carries the emergency clause.

Rejected on final passage 16-25 was LB411, introduced by Sens. Portsche and Richard Marvel of Hastings, requiring that railroad caboose cars be equipped with sanitary water coolers and individual drinking cups.

Bills passed (E—Emergency clause) included:

LB356 (Judiciary) — Increasing from $1,000 to $2,000 the civil suit jurisdiction of municipal courts in Omaha and Lincoln. 40-0.

LB357 (Judiciary) — Providing that when municipal court judgments are appealed to higher courts, the amount sought shall not be changed so as to exceed the jurisdiction limit of the municipal court. 39-0.

LB364 (Judiciary Committee)—Clarifying garnishment procedures. 41-0.

LB372 (Judiciary)—Revising procedure for sale of real estate acquired by a county in satisfaction of an old age assistance lien. 40-0.

LB483 (Otto, Gerdes, Claussen)—Authorizing state normal schools to offer classes at various localities over the state if unnecessary duplication with courses offered by local educational institutions is avoided. 41-0.

Charles Ward, 72, Brown & Bigelow President, Dead

St. Paul, Minn. (AP)—Charles A. Ward, who rose from a homeless wanderer and prison inmate to head one of the nation's largest advertising specialty firms, died in Los Angeles while on a business trip. He would have been 73 Friday.

Ward was president and general manager of Brown & Bigelow, St. Paul, a firm he had headed since 1933.

Officials of the firm here were notified that Ward was reading in bed in a Los Angeles hotel when he was stricken. Death was believed to have resulted from a heart attack.

Ward, who in recent years was known for his philanthropies and humanitarian accomplishments, came to Brown & Bigelow in 1925 as a $25 a week factory apprentice. He had befriended the late H. H. Bigelow, then president, while the two were serving sentences at Leavenworth Federal Prison.

Elevated to President

Ward became foreman and later departmental superintendent, then general manager. When Bigelow drowned in a hunting accident in 1933, the board of directors elevated Ward from vice president to president.

The two met in Leavenworth while Ward served a term on a narcotics charge he said was "trumped-up" because of his association with other people. Bigelow served a term for income tax evasion. Ward later was granted a presidential pardon by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Surviving in addition to his widow are two daughters Kiki, 18, and Vida, 16, and a son, Herbert, 11.

Surgery Required After Suicide Attempt Fails

A 22-year-old Lincoln laborer was in satisfactory condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital after an apparent attempted suicide at his home Tuesday night.

According to police, the man attempted to shoot himself earlier in the day but missed with the bullet passing through a wall.

Police said the victim shot himself once in the right shoulder with a .38 caliber revolver. Surgery was required to remove the slug, which nearly passed through the man's body.

Schools' Opening In Doubt

. . . In Little Rock

Little Rock, Ark. (AP) — The purged teachers of Little Rock were assured a new deal Tuesday, but reopening of 4 high schools remained a question mark despite the recall of 3 segregationists from the school board.

The assurance to the 44 fired teachers came from Everett Tucker Jr., one of 3 moderate members of the board endorsed Monday by voters who at the same time threw out the segregationists.

But Tucker said reopening of the schools closed by Gov. Orval E. Faubus last fall was something else. He said the answer hinges on constitutionality of a state law enabling the governor to close public schools when he feels trouble may arise from integration.

Approved By Voters

The law under which Faubus closed the schools is under attack in Federal Court. The governor's action was approved by voters, 3 to 1, in an election he was required to call under the law.

"If the law is upheld (in Federal Court) we will be powerless to reopen the schools," Tucker said. "If it not, we are already under Federal Court order to open the schools. Presumably this would mean token desegregation."

NU Honors Ag Expert's Long Service

A University of Nebraska veteran agricultural Extension worker, R. N. Houser of Lincoln, was honored Tuesday at a special meeting of Nebraska Extension personnel for 40 years of service.

Houser received a certificate from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It was presented by Dean W. V. Lambert of the College of Agriculture.

"We have never had a more loyal or devoted staff member in the Extension Service," Elton Lux, state leader of finance and personnel in the University's AES said. "Houser has tried to help people all his life."

A native of Stockton, Ill., Houser graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1918. He later was employed as science and agriculture instructor at Geneva High School and as vocational agriculture instructor at Tekamah High School.

He joined the Extension Service in 1918 as an assistant county agent and later served as county agent in Dodge, Saunders, Webster and Pawnee counties. In 1953, he was appointed assistant state leader of programs and reports.

Alcoholic Beverage Handler $2 Permit Proposal Advances Easily

By Betty Person

A $2 yearly permit would be required of any person in Nebraska who sells or dispenses alcoholic beverages under a bill advanced on a 25-2 vote by the Legislature Tuesday.

LB590, introduced by Sen. David Tews of Norfolk, would affect virtually everyone who handles beer, liquor or wine — bartenders, waitresses, store clerks, truck drivers, salesmen, brewers and brewers' representatives.

The bill was one of 3 measures dealing with liquor acted upon by the Legislature Tuesday.

LB487, introduced by Sens. John Munnelly of Omaha, J. O. Peck of Columbus and Tews, revises methods of applying for liquor licenses and was advanced on voice vote.

'Minimum Price' Dies

Earlier Tuesday the Legislature killed by a 25-13 vote LB429, introduced by Sen. William Skarda of Omaha, which would have set a "minimum consumer price" on all alcoholic beverages sold in Nebraska.

During debate on LB590, Sen. Tews said he believed the bill would be the greatest spur to liquor law compliance of any law, rule or regulation now on the books.

Violation of the law would make the permit subject to suspension or revocation.

Temporary Help

Sen. J. W. Burbach of Crofton offered an amendment adopted by a 20-2 vote which would exempt temporary employes doing substitute work, such as bartenders, provided such service did not exceed a total of 5 days in any one 30-day period.

LB487, which was requested by the Liquor Commission, occupied much of the day's debate, and caused a flareup between Sens. Ray Simmons of Fremont and Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

Simmons offered an amendment which would have allowed anyone living within a county to protest a liquor license. Present law provides that the complaint must be filed by someone living within the city or village where the license is located.

Carpenter charged that Simmons' amendment was "stimulated" by the senator's brother, Robert G. Simmons Jr., a Scottsbluff attorney.

Carpenter said, "It's been somewhat of a hobby of Simmons' brother to stimulate nearly every minister in the county to protest every license I've ever gotten."

He told the legislature, "If you want to harrass me. . . if you want to pass legislation directed against me . . . then vote for the amendment."

Sen. Simmons said his brother had conferred with Liquor Commission attorney Edward F. Carter Jr. on the proposed amendment, but added that "if Sen. Carpenter is going to use the Legislature for his own personal interests, I think other members of the public have that same right."

Simmons also said he objected to Carpenter's suggestion that his brother "approached" persons to protest the Scottsbluff senator's licenses. "They came to him and retained him," Simmons said.

Simmons' proposed amendment was turned down on a voice vote.

Sen. Munnelly explained the two main objectives of the voluminous bill were to provide a uniform system of processing retail license applications, and to provide an efficient and economical system for processing through the Liquor Commission at the local level.

Sen. John Cooper of Humboldt proposed an amendment approved 18-7 requiring publication of newspaper notice that a liquor license was up for renewal.

Sen. Carpenter later proposed an amendment which would have the effect of revising the "bottle club" bill, LB23, passed Monday by the Legislature.

His amendment would have authorized referendum elections on whether such clubs should be allowed to handle liquor on Sunday, but he withdrew the amendment when Sen. Michael Russillo objected to the manner in which it was offered.

R.G. 'Aghast' As Speed Penalty Increases Fail

Gov. Ralph Brooks was described as "aghast" Tuesday at legislative action killing a bill which would have increased penalties for speeding motorists.

The Judiciary Committee axed LB718, a bill introduced on the recommendation of the governor.

Speaking through his administrative assistant, Robert Conrad, Brooks said he was "aghast at the incredible indifference to the tearfully tragic traffic toll."

LB718, he said, "would have brought to Nebraska highways the only effectively demonstrated device for reduction of motor vehicle accidents."

Suspension

That device is temporary suspension of speeders' drivers licenses.

"This apparent disregard for the $47,800,000 economic loss experienced by Nebraska motorists in 1958 must be even more puzzling to the families of the 344 Nebraska motorists who died in 1958," the governor continued.

It must also puzzle families of the 112 motorists "who have died thus far this year as a result of accidents attributed in 80% of the cases to excessive speed," Brooks added.

"Nebraska motorists," the governor said, "are much more concerned with losing their license than with losing their life.

'Daily Reminder'

"LB718 would have made that fear a daily reminder for safe driving practices."

While he was at it, Brooks put in a word for another traffic safety bill sponsored by his office, LB715, which would authorize inspection of motor vehicles by the State Safety Patrol.

The two bills, he said, are "key points in any co-ordinated traffic safety campaign and must be enacted if Nebraska motorists are to be protected from unlicensed drivers operating unsafe vehicles at unlawful speeds."

11th Commandment

Brooks also took note of a proposed 11th commandment: "Thou shall not drive like the devil."

Conrad is chairman of the governor's traffic safety program.

LB718 would have provided suspension for 72 hours of the drivers license of a first offense speeder.

A 30-day suspension would have been prescribed for additional speeding offenses.

The bill died on a 6-1 vote.
